FILM STARS ADD $4000 TO FIRE BENEFIT

Headliners Give Services to Aid Stricken Friends of Glendale Heroes

"The quality of mercy is not strain'd.
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath. It is twice blessed:
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes."
Merchant of Venice—Shakespeare.

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

Last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, when twenty film stars of the first magnitude shone brilliantly before a packed house of nearly 1000, will go down in Glendale history as a monumental occasion, the consummation of three weeks of unprecedented effort in behalf of the families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan, who lost their lives in the foothill fire of October 13.

As a result of this performance, $4075.50 in gate receipts was added to the $3803.40 collected by The Glendale Evening News, making a grand total of $7,795.90 to be distributed between Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan. That the outstanding success of this tremendous entertainment is largely due to Louise Dresser and her husband, Jack Gardner, is well known by all who took part in the work, either on stage or off. Enough can scarcely be said for the wonderful way they got behind the thing and put it over, it is felt, and deep appreciation is expressed by the general committee, through its chairman, Mayor Spencer Robinson, for their 100 per cent co-operation.

All Headliners

With every number on the program a headliner, from Lionel Belmore, who acted as toastmaster, to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, who opened the bill and closed it, it is impossible to make comparisons. The various stars appeared not in order of merit but just as they happened to come, those arriving early going on first.

Mayor Robinson, whose address of welcome followed an overture by A. M. Kelley's Shrine club orchestra, stressed the fact that with the proceeds of the benefit performance about to start, the total of funds would approximate $8000. Lionel Belmore, speaking on behalf of the film world,

TESTIMONY ENDS IN STOKES CASE

Untermyer Makes Closing Remarks to Jury, With Attack on Husband

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Taking of testimony in the famous Stokes divorce trial ended shortly after noon today.

Samuel D. Untermyer, chief counsel for Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, who is being sued for divorce by her wealthy 73-year-old husband, W. E. D. Stokes, immediately began his closing aguments to the jury.

Untermyer made a stirring plea for "justice." He repeatedly referred to the double standard.

"The man in a case of this kind is never punished," he declared. "The woman, her honor impugned, her name gone, must pay the penalty to society.

"There has been a trail of perjury through all of this case. The majority of witnesses against Mrs Stokes perjured themselves."

Outrage On Justice

Untermyer declared the "perjured testimony" was "an outrage on justice—the worst in the history in an American court."

Untermyer made a bitter attack on Stokes.

"Think of the father who would charge that," he said. "Think, if you decide against this woman, what could she tell her children of their father."

Untermyer laid the alleged perjured testimony directly to the aged millionaire husband. Mrs. Arthur Scott Miller, Mrs. Stokes' mother was crying. Stokes twirled his gray mustache and looked neither at Untermyer nor the jury.

The lawyer defended Mrs. Stokes for marrying the millionaire when she was 24 and he was 61.

"Stokes looked younger—like a man of 45," he said. "But since that day Mrs. Stokes lived in a prison of fire—a life of hell.

"This man Stokes has had a hobby of hounding his wife, placing a brand of scarlet on the mother of his children. It has been a mania with him."

Will Rogers Tells Late Film Gossip

You-all got visitors. Don't tell me this many people live in Glendale, was Will Rogers' way of introducing himself here last night.

I didn't know where Glendale was till I got to thinking, it is where you turn right, going to Pasadena. But even then I had a hard time finding the place for I only go to Pasadena once a year, when they have that Battle of Roses over there. Why they call it roses is more than I can make out; all you see is real estate men.

Well, finally I found Glendale. I heard somebody singing and I knew that was the place. Whenever you hear anyone singing in this neck of the woods you know it's the mayor of Glendale.

I heard this was some women's clubhouse, named after some day of the week, I forget which. Oh, yes, Tuesday—the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Well, I figured I'd have a lot of women to entertain and there's just one thing to entertain them with—and that's scandal. So I've come loaded with scandal, all about Uncle Mary and Aunt Doug, and myself and wife, and a lot of other folks over Hollywood way.

* * *

Well, since Doug and Mary're thinking of suing that magazine back east for libel or something, I've decided my wife and I'll do a little suing too. We're tired of these rumors and we're going to show the world we're happy, even if we have to go to court to do it. Yes, sir, just as long as we can get something out of it, we're going to keep right on suing.

* * *

Milton Sills says America's contribution to the world is movies. I know a lot of other things we've contributed. Bootlegging, that's a strictly American institution. And what about escrow? I'll bet that's American, all right.

Why, in America, the movies are merely a by-product of the real estate business. If the studios had put all their money in real estate ever since they've been in Hollywood, instead of pictures, there'd be a lot of 'em running now that are closed.

This isn't the only benefit performance I've given recently. Why, I give one every day for Messrs. Zukor and Lasky.

Some people think there are more women shooting their husbands now than before prohibition. That isn't true. They aren't shooting any more than they were—but they are hitting more.

Speaking about hitting, this P. E. is sure accurate at the crossings. And speed, say, if they made the time between crossings they made at crossings, all the trains would run on schedule.

What with Hughes, Davis, Mellon and the other boys that sit at table with Coolidge traipsing all over the United States, Canada, Mexico and Europe, it's getting to be 'Join the cabinet and see the world.'

* * *

Turkey is the only other prohibition country. Us and Turkey, that's some comparison. If we enjoyed some of their other privileges, perhaps it wouldn't be so bad.

DIVIDE FUND FOR FIRE VICTIMS

Evening News Sends Checks to Women Bereaved by Woodland Flames

Checks were today forwarded to Mrs. Johanna Edwards and Mrs. Joseph W. McGahan from the fund collected through The Glendale Evening News, the subscriptions being made because of the fact that Mrs. Edwards' son and Mrs. McGahan's husband lost their lives while defending Glendale and Eagle Rock from flames raging in the San Rafael hills on October 13.

The check to Mrs. Edwards was for $1831.45 and the check to Mrs. McGahan was for $1731.45. The total subscribed up to last night was $3720.40. Of this $50 given by Mrs. Nanno Woods was sent immediately to Mrs. Edwards by Mrs. Woods' direction. At the request of the welfare department of the Tuesday Afternoon club a check for $100 was sent to Mrs. McGahan as an advance on the total of the check due her. Also, a total of $7.50 was sent from the list of subscribers to Mrs. Edwards at the direction of those making the subscriptions. Therefore, Mrs. Edwards receives a check for $1831.45 and Mrs. McGahan receives a check for $1731.45.

K. K. K. Contributes

This fund was in no way connected with the all-star benefit entertainment staged last night, that money being in charge of another committee.

After The Glendale Evening News fund was closed last night and checks made out, additional subscriptions were received.

Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Realm of California, caused an envelope to be delivered to this office. The envelope contained $75 in gold coin. Three other subscriptions were received for a total of $8. So the grand total of The Glendale Evening News fund today is $3803.40. New subscriptions are:

Knights of the Ku Klux Klan	$75.00
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Baker	5.00
A News Reader	2.00
A Friend	1.00

Mayor Robinson Writes

Mayor Spencer Robinson of The Glendale Evening News fund committee today wrote letters to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan enclosing the checks. The letter to Mrs. McGahan follows:

"Nov. 7, 1923.

"Mrs. Joseph W. McGahan,
"Glendale, Cal.

"Dear Mrs. McGahan:

"A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, has turned over to me a check for $1,731.45, being the amount collected for your benefit through The Glendale Evening News' relief fund.

"While I realize only too well that words are but futile things in the face of the terrible bereavement which has befallen you, yet it has been a great satisfaction to me and I trust may be a source of comfort to you to note the splendid way in which our big-hearted people have responded to the call made in your behalf by this paper. I am, indeed, proud of the splendid spirit which our Glendale citizens have always displayed in emergencies of this character and on behalf of our people, I most sincerely trust that

JUSSERAND WILL GIVE FRENCH VIEW

Negotiations Between Paris and Washington More Favorable Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Decision by the United States whether or not to enter the proposed reparations conference hung in the balance today while President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes waited for the French government to clarify its position.

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Premier Poincare has cabled additional instructions to Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, to enable him to enlighten Secretary of State Hughes regarding France's limitations for the proposed international conference of reparations experts, it was learned at the foreign office today.

The impression is growing in official circles that negotiations between Washington and Paris are more favorable.

The Petit Journal printed a report that Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, had sent a cablegram to Washington expressing his personal views "why America should do everything possible to hasten the proposed conference of international reparations experts." This was denied by sources close to the United States embassy.

STRIKERS RIOT AT CRACOW, POLAND

Disgruntled Soldiers Aid in Sanguine Fighting Over Labor Trouble

WARSAW, Nov. 7.—Strikers, aided by disgruntled soldiers have taken Cracow. The trouble began with pitched battles between policemen and strikers in the streets on Tuesday.

Strikers were armed with rifles which they had seized upon previous raids.

Police attempts to rush positions held by the strikers were unsuccessful. Sanguine fighting resulted, in which police brought machine guns into action. A brigade of cavalry was brought up to aid the police.

The troubles were aggravated when two regiments of infantry refused to obey their officers in Tartar and Beryslav.

Workmen made a concerted attack, capturing eight machine guns and an armored car whose crew had been killed or wounded.

NOTE—All the cities where disorders were reported were formerly part of Hungary, but were awarded to Poland under the Versailles treaty.

A bomb was thrown at socialist headquarters in Warsaw this morning, killing one man. The offices of the socialist party were wrecked.

A general strike had been proclaimed, but was called off, in view of the concessions to the Cracow socialists.

Auto Camp Owner Sues City for Permit

By the provisions of an order issued Tuesday morning by Judge Charles S. Crail of the Superior Court in Los Angeles, the members of the Glendale City Council must appear before him Friday morning, November 9, to show cause why all proceedings in the matter of revoking the license of F. H. Hatfield to conduct an auto camp ground at Riverdale drive and San Fernando road, should not be stayed.

This order is relative to the petition for a writ of review filed recently in that court by Hatfield, through his attorney, W. Claire Anspach, asking that the revocation of Hatfield's license be taken under consideration.

According to the petition, Hatfield was served with a notice on October 5 that the matter of revoking his license would be taken up October 11. He claims that despite his protests, his license was taken away from him, effective November 10, and that he did not have time to prepare adequate evidence showing that this should not be done.

HAY FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The investigation which the interstate commerce commission is making to determine whether freight rates on grain and grain products are too high was broadened today to include hay.

U. S. WILL PROBE W. VA. MINE BLAST

Thirteen Entombed Workers Found Unhurt, 27 More Lost Lives in Shaft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The United States bureau of mines today ordered an investigation of the disaster in the Glen Rogers mine of the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal company in West Virginia. The investigation will be made by J. W. Paul, the bureau's chief mining engineer, who left Washington today to start the inquiry.

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 7.—State mine inspectors and officials of the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal company today began an investigation to determine the cause of the explosion in the company's mine at Glen Rogers, near here, which yesterday took a toll of twenty-seven lives.

All bodies had been recovered today and rescuers were marveling over what they termed the miracle which resulted in finding thirteen of the entombed miners unhurt. A re-check today showed there were sixty-three men in the mine when the explosion occurred.

All those killed were in the entry. Those unhurt were in the main shaft, which was blocked by debris loosed by the blast. More than half the victims had wives and children.

Republicans Increase Lead in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Democratic ticket carried by a large majority in the five counties comprising Greater New York, returns today from yesterday's election show.

Up-state reported sixteen Republicans to the Democrat's two.

Latest reports indicated the Republicans increased their majority in the 1924 state assembly to 19 votes, 85 Republicans and 66 Democrats being elected to that body.

The Republicans and Democrats each elected two congressional candidates. The Democrats elected Annings Prall, in the eleventh district, and John O'Connor in the sixteenth, while the successful Republican candidates were Benjamin L. Fairchild in the 24th; Thaddeus Sweet in the 32nd.

Oregon Votes Against State Income Tax Bill

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 7.—The voters of Oregon have decided they do not want a state income tax law. Near complete returns early today from Multnomah county and over the state indicate that the majority against the income tax will aggregate 4,000 votes. Portland and Multnomah county overwhelmingly voted for the referendum against the income tax, the majority being about 12,000. The farming communities and up-state districts, with about one-half the votes tabulated, favored the bill.

HUNGRY MOB AGAIN RIOTS IN BERLIN

Plunderers Are Arrested by Hundreds; Worthless Money Issued

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Hungry mobs again rioted today in Berlin. Many stores were looted. No casualties were reported up to this afternoon. Despite the police appeal, the public failed to support the authorities against the rioters.

One person was killed and several severely wounded in bread riots at Pirma, in the heart of the Saxonian coal fields. The police fired upon rioters.

The Dresden government has submitted the controversy with the Reichswehr to the supreme court at Leipsig.

Tense Situation

The situation is Berlin is tense. More than 600 persons have been arrested in the past twenty-four hours, charged with plundering.

Premier Froelich of Thuringia, who is in Berlin, is protesting to the federal government against alleged discrimination by the Reichswehr. He urged President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann to visit the "Bavarian front" to get a personal view of the activities of the "Bavarian irregulars."

Advices from the Rhineland said that the separatists had seized money presses and were printing their own currency. The allied district commissioner in the zone where the secessionists were turning out money forced the Reich bank branches to accept it as legitimate.

Sawyer Says Harding Made Forbes Resign

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The late President Harding forced Charles R. Forbes to resign from the directorship of the United States Veterans' bureau because of the sales of surplus property at the Perryville, Md., depot, which Forbes continued even after President Harding had ordered them stopped, Brigadier General Charles W. Sawyer, former White House physician, testified today at the senatorial inquiry.

Sawyer said several carloads of supplies were shipped to the Thompson and Kelly company at Boston with Forbes' consent after President Harding had ordered their removal be stopped. The Boston firm bought $3,000,000 worth of supplies for $600,000.

Before Sawyer took the stand, Commander Charles R. O'Leary, U. S. N., cleared the name of President Harding from all responsibility for the Perryville transaction.

Election of a president, vice-president, secretary and three new members of the governing committee occupied the attention of the Glendale Realty board at its meeting held in Jensen's Egyptian Village at noon today. Interest in the election was keen, as was manifested by the large attendance of both old and new members of the organization.

C. D. Thom, the retiring president of the board, refused to permit his name to be placed before the organization for re-elecion. W. L. Truitt, W. L. Twining and L. H. Wilson were elected to the governing committee, after which the officers were elected as follows:

Peter Hanson, president.
W. L. Twining, vice-president.
James W. Pearson, secretary.
W. L. Truitt, treasurer.

Sentry Found Dead at Denver Hospital

DENVER, Nov. 7.—Private Jess H. Woodruff, 47, a sentry at Fitzsimmons army hospital, was found dead with a .45 calibre bullet wound in his head and an army automatic pistol gripped in his hand. Physicians declare the man had been dead since Monday, but his body was not discovered until late Tuesday when a civilian employe passed through the gate.

Authorities are unable to agree whether or not Woodruff came to his death as the result of a duel with another person or through suicide. His automatic had been fired once and the nature of the wound in his head led some to believe he took his own life. Woodruff had been in the service for fifteen years, serving throughout the world war in France, engaging in many important battles.

Parties See-Saw as Voters Cast Election Ballots

Kentucky—Democrats returned to power by majorities of from 30,000 to 40,000, with William J. Fields winning governorship.

Vermont—Porter H. Dale, dry Republican, won only senate seat contested in nation from Park H. Pollard, Democrat.

Maryland—Entire Democratic state ticket, headed by Albert C. Ritchie, outstanding foe of prohibition, elected by 10,000 to 40,000.

New York — Republicans gain seat in congress and increase majority in state assembly from 12 to 22. Democrats win in New York City. Soldiers' bonus carried.

Cleveland—Ku Klux Klan swept many cities and counties.

Chicago—Miss Mary Bartelme, Republican, first woman to be elected judge in Chicago.

MIRACLE SAVES CAR'S OCCUPANTS

Mrs. Allie Anderson Tells of Accident in Which Trio Foil Death

A motor trip to Bakersfield on Monday almost resulted tragically for Mrs. Allie Anderson of the Golden West sanitarium at 1104 East Windsor road; her father Walter E. Taylor of Texas, and Fred Farr of Glendale, when the big automobile in which they were riding went over a thirty-foot embankment two miles the other side of Palmdale, and was completely wrecked.

There were two machines in the party, one containing Mrs. Anderson, her father and Mr. Farr, and the other Dr. and Mrs. Frank Munger of Bakersfield. The Mungers were traveling ahead. It was the first time the Anderson party had driven over the road, and they knew nothing of the turn in the road where the accident occurred.

Mrs. Anderson states that road work was being done at the turn, and that no red lanterns were burning to warn motorists of any danger.

Saved By Top

Mrs. Anderson's car had a California top, and as the driver was unaware of approaching a turn in the road, the big vehicle left the road and plunged down the thirty-foot embankment, turning over three times and landing upside down.

Fortunately the California top supported the car's heavy body and occupants, and Mrs. Anderson states that just after she and her father and Mr. Farr crawled out of the wreckage the top crumpled under the heavy weight.

Dr. Munger and his wife, missing the Anderson car, turned back and hurried to the wreck. They found Mr. Farr badly injured, Mrs. Anderson painfully bruised and Mr. Taylor unhurt.

First aid was administered to Mr. Farr and Mrs. Anderson, and they were then rushed to Glendale, where Dr. S. Kaemmerling attended them at the Golden West sanitarium. Mr. Farr is thought to be suffering from internal injuries, and will be confined to his bed for some time.

JUDGMENT FOR $80

Judgment for $80 was rendered by Judge Harry M. Chase yesterday in a suit filed by G. F. Jones against Mrs. Mabel C. Musser of Alhambra, following a headon collision between the cars of the two parties at Flintridge recently. Jones claimed $125 as the extent of the damages sustained in the crash.

POLITICIANS SOLACED BY OFF YEAR VOTES

G. O. P. Retains Majority in Both Houses of Next Session of Congress

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Both parties found solace today in the results of Tuesday's off-year elections.

The Republicans were pleased over the fact that they won the only senatorial seat at stake in he election—in Vermont, where Porter H. Dale, Republican, was elected over Park H. Pollard, Democrat, a cousin of President Coolidge. They were also somewhat jubilant over the gain of one seat in the house from the 24th district of New York.

The Democrats likewise appeared happy over the fact that Democratic candidates were successful in all three gubernatorial contests, in Kentucky, Maryland and in Mississippi, and in the retention of seven seats in the house of ten at stake Thursday.

Election Is Stand-off

Impartial observers inclined to the belief that Tuesday's election was about a stand-off and that the results proved little concerning the temper of the electorate in relation to the approaching presidential campaign. Local issues for the most part overshadowed national issues everywhere and turned the tide of election.

The new senate will be composed of 51 Republicans, 43 Democrats and two Farmer-Laborites. This allows a Republican majority over the Democrats of eight and a majority over all of only six votes.

When it is considered that in that slim Republican majority of six is to be found such independents as Brookhart of Iowa, Howell of Nebraska, Frazier of North Dakota, Borah of Idaho, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska and Ladd of North Dakota, it will be seen that the Republicans will control the next senate in name only, and only to the extent that they can keep the above named independents in line.

G. O. P.'s Slim Majority

The new house will consist of 224 Republicans, 208 Democrats, one Farmer-Labor, one Independent and one Socialist—a Republican majority over all of but 13 votes.

As in the senate there are a number of Republicans included in this slim majority that are distinctly independent in their voting—ten of them are a part of the La Follette organization in Wisconsin—so that absenetees and mavericks straying off the party reservation can easily wipe out margins and put both parties on an even footing when it comes to voting.

On the basis of this line-up, the Democrats are going to demand a large sized share in the organization of the new congress. Leaders do not intend to permit the Republicans to run wild in the organization of committees with such preponderant Republican majorities on them that they can control legislation.

Chicago Elects Woman Judge

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Miss Mary Bartelme, whose 26 years of public service has given her a national name, today was Chicago's first woman judge-elect. Miss Bartelme, Republican, had a majority of 15,000 votes over Dennis J. Mormoyle, Democrat, in the city's judicial election, accord-

Home Wedding

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, was the officiant last night, Tuesday, November 6, 1923, at the marriage ceremony at the J. W. Walton home at 517 North Kenwood, where Mrs. Louise Walton Stafford became the bride of L. O. Newsome of Sacramento.

A company of over fifty relatives and guests attended the ceremony and participated in the informal reception following.

The only attendant of the bride was her sister, Miss Ruth Walton, who wore a gown of blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of pale pink roses.

Mrs. Stafford wore cloth of gold, trimmed with embroidery from Cairo, Egypt, a head-dress of cloth of gold, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. She entered the living room, where the ceremony took place, on the arm of her father.

A group of bridal selections were given by Miss Eloise Hicks, pianist. Just before the ceremony she played Lohengrin's Wedding March.

During the reception Mrs. Walton was assisted by a group of Pomona college friends of her daughter. Those assisting were Miss Margaret Jones of Whittier, Mrs. Fay Batten of Dos Palos, Mrs. Wilfred Michael of La Verne, Mrs. Walter Jones of Glendale, Mrs. E. D. Lynten of Los Angeles.

Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Newsome left for a trip in Southern California. For traveling Mrs. Newsome wore dark blue charmeuse, dark blue hat and gray shoes and gloves. They will return to Glendale for a short stay at the Walton home before going north to Sacramento, where Mr. Newsome, who is a civil engineer, is engaged in work for the government.

Mrs. Newsome has a wide circle of friends in Southern California cities, made during her three years' attendance at Pomona college. Later she attended and graduated from the University of Utah. It was while engaged in teaching in the north that she met Mr. Newsome.

Mr. Newsome, who formerly resided in Texas, was educated in that state.

OFFICERS CATCH LOAD OF LIQUOR

Study of Dawn's Beauties Is Halted as Police Nab Driver of Truck

The beauty of a November sunrise in Glendale proved the undoing of one Angeleno this morning.

While completing his last round before relief at 7 o'clock, Officer Hendrick was pointing out to Lieutenant Nunn the wonders of Nature's paint brush, citing the colors depicted in the eastern horizon as proof. In order that they might get the full benefit of the picture before them, they stopped for a moment at the corner of San Fernando road and Los Feliz.

As is generally the case with scenes unfolded by powers beyond the control of men, material things entered into the picture, and interrupted the meditations of the two officers. In this case the interfering element was a Ford truck. Their attention was drawn from the skies to the Ford, and from the Ford to the load it carried.

"What in the world has he got in there?" said Hendrick.

"I don't know. That's a funny-looking load. Let's find out," returned Nunn.

They did, and, lo and behold, the load was fifty gallons of claret wine, contained in ten five-gallon glass jars, wrapped in burlap bags.

The driver of the truck, who gave his name at police headquarters as A. Giovanazzi, 1443 Henry street, Los Angeles, is now in jail awaiting trial on charges of being in possession of and transporting liquor.

The fifty gallons of "evidence" is also safely put away in the safe.

Community Players Express Appreciation

Mrs. Nanno Woods, director of the Community Players, conveys her appreciation of the assistance rendered her organization in the presentation of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" in the following letter to The Glendale Evening News:

"The Glendale Community Players desire publicly to thank The Glendale Evening News for the fine publicity given "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which the players produced last Friday and Saturday nights. They also wish to thank William Hunter, whose kind offer to place his truck and truck driver at their disposal was most thankfully accepted.

"The Glendale Community Players solicit no advertising from merchants and make no demands upon them for assistance. They hope, accordingly, to receive kindly offers of co-operation from many Glendale merchants. The organization is a non-commercial one, being organized for the purpose of affording pleasant, congenial occupation to men and women during their leisure hours, and for the purpose of providing clean, wholesome entertainment at a reasonable admission fee."

Plan Fathers' Night at Broadway School

Fathers of Broadway school children have each received a hearty invitation to meet Friday night at the home of R. M. Ferguson, 529 Porter street, to participate in organizing a "Fathers' Auxiliary" of the Broadway Parent-Teachers' association.

The meeting is announced for 8 o'clock and the invitations state that the purpose will be "to 'put over' a fathers' auxiliary worthy of the Broadway school."

Other outstanding features of the invitation are: "When you stop to think of it, there really should be no dividing line between father, mother and the children in any phase of the children's life.

"It is true, perhaps, the mother takes more care of, and pays more attention to, the boy or girl simply because she is with them most. But, on the other hand, just because father's business takes up the greater portion of his time, it is no excuse for his neglecting to keep the vital problems which confront his children before him to an extent where he may, through experience, guard them to the best of his ability.

DENIES NEGLECT OF WAR GRAVES

Envoy Scores Charges of Failure to Care for U. S. Cemeteries

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—"To disturb the minds of bereaved fathers and mothers by unfounded or exaggerated stories of official neglect of the cemeteries in France is a base and unworthy thing," said the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, one of the general secretaries of the Federal Council of Churches, himself an ex-service man, who was sent as a special commissioner to investigate conditions in the American cemeteries in France.

From time to time charges have been made that these cemeteries are neglected. To find the truth Dr. Cavert was asked to make a careful investigation.

In his investigations, Dr. Cavert visited four of the six great American cemeteries, Bony, the Somme-American, the Oisne-Aisne cemetery near Suringes, the Belleau Wood cemetery and Suresnes.

The Federal Council's commissioner declares the authorities in charge are carrying out definite plans. At the same time he states that some of the cemeteries look bad because it is impossible to turn a battle-churned soil into a garden spot in the course of a few years.

In an interview that explains the somewhat divergent reports regarding the care of the cemeteries, Dr. Cavert said:

"To Bony I went first of all, to see the cemetery that enshrines the dust of the men of the Twenty-Seventh and the Thirtieth Divisions, who broke the famous Hindenburg Line and thereby played the prelude of the end of the colossal struggle.

"What the cemetery is becoming would be a source of pride to any American. At present it is rather bare, but to describe it as 'neglected' is a sheer caricature of the facts. No one could do so who had taken the pains to inquire concerning the plans now being carried forward.

"The plans include the planting of thousands of trees and shrubs and ivy vines, every one of which is already located on a blue-print, the erecting of a handsome ornamental gate, a commodious and artistic rest-house and reception-hall for guests.

"The next day I went from Rheims to the Oise-Aisne cemetery, near Suringes. Conditions were very much the same as at Bony.

"From Suringes I made a pilgrimage to the cemetery at Belleau Wood, the subject of so much recent criticism in the newspapers. I must bear witness that the reports of 'neglect' seem to me grossly exaggerated. It is true that there was an abundance of mud and a dearth of waving trees and flowers. But, in addition to the reasons for somewhat slow progress referred to in the discussion of the cemetery at Bony, one must remember that here at Belleau Wood interments are still being made.

"The story of the so-called "poor-box" for collecting funds from tourists rests upon a complete misunderstanding. No funds whatever were being solicited for the cemetery. The contributions which the visitor could give, if he so desired, were for the development and upkeep of the adjoining battlefield which does not belong to the government at all but to a voluntary organization known as the Belleau Wood Memorial association."

2,200 Volts Fail to Kill W. U. Lineman

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 7.—His body poised in a perilous position on the roof of the Santa Fe railway station after he had been rendered unconscious by contact with a 2,200-volt power line, A. K. Rawson, lineman for the Western Union Telegraph company, was rescued by members of the fire department. Rawson, who was rushed to the receiving hospital, probably will recover, it was stated, although he was badly burned and shocked by the power line.

Varsity Team Meets Alhambra on Friday

Friday of this week the varsity team of the local high school will journey to Alhambra to play the fourth league game of the season. In last year's game between these two teams the Glendale aggregation was returned the victor by the score of 18-6, and supporters of the red and black hope for a similar verdict this year.

Coach Hayhurst will keep the team busy with the dummy this week, as he was not satisfied with the tackling in the Monrovia game last Friday. Darrell Elliott is arranging several new plays which the locals plan to spring on Alhambra.

The game is called for 3:30 and many rooters from Glendale will accompany the team.

Here's a Car of Pronounced Superiority!

The Nash Four Carriole

One by one! Consider the superior merits of this handsome Nash enclosed car.

First, the body. Notice its smart, sweeping lines; its all-metal panel construction; its broad doors.

Next, the chassis. Observe how ruggedly it is built, with rigid cross-members solidifying the framework.

Then check over the equipment. Contrast its quality, its luxury, its completeness with the fittings of any similarly priced enclosed car.

Sink down in the soft deep cushions of the Carriole. Sit in the back seat and stretch your legs out. There's a great plenty of room.

Finally, take the wheel for the real test—a half-hour's run on roads of your own selection.

Feel the motor's smooth rush of power; its brisk getaway; its brilliant response.

Gauge this Nash Carriole by any standard you choose and you'll be impressed with the value it embodies.

EAGLE ROCK

WELCOME HOME IS GIVEN O. J. ROOT

Banquet at Clubhouse in Honor of Boosting C. C. President

"Welcome home!" chorused scores of residents last night to President O. J. Root of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, at a monster banquet held in the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse in honor of his return with his family from a six months' tour of the east.

The formal address of welcome was delivered by J. Hartley Taylor, the chamber's first vice-president and its acting head during Mr. Root's absence. In his response, President Root told the assemblage of his delight to find on returning a chamber with 289 active members and still gaining fast.

Dr. Remsen du Bois Bird, president of Occidental college, made a very popular and efficient toastmaster, maintaining the atmosphere at just the right pitch of convivality throughout.

Dr. Roberts

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. W. E. Roberts of Santa Ana, former secretary of the Champaign, Ill., chamber, a man who enjoys the perhaps unique experience of being a doctor of divinity and a secretary of a chamber of commerce.

Dr. Roberts spoke very entertainingly, fully living up to his reputation as one of the most effective speakers in the Southwest. He called attention to some of the possibilities for community building that lie at the disposal of a chamber.

Music during the progress of the banquet and between the speeches was furnished by Miss Mary Frances Schriever, popular Los Angeles harpist, a young woman who plays frequently at the Philharmonic auditorium and is well known at the Emanuel Presbyterian church.

At the close of the program Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly on membership, stating that while it was true that 289 active members is a record of which to be proud, that nevertheless the community should not rest on its laurels but should constantly strive to bring in new members.

The banquet itself was a distinct gastronomic success. Of the "country dinner" type, it certainly lived up to the reputation enjoyed by this particular brand of spread. Mrs. C. D. Dirks, chairman of the food committee, is largely responsible for this.

The committee on banquet arrangements comprised John T. Baily, chairman; Mrs. A. G. Reily, president of the Women's Twentieth Century club, and Professor William Allison.

Parent-Teachers Meet

The Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association met this afternoon in the auditorium of the Eagle Rock school, where a report on the Harvest Home Festival was heard, the outstanding feature being the fact that a net profit of $425 was realized, which will greatly broaden the scope of operations of the winter months, states Mrs. J. C. Reiter, president.

At this meeting plans were formulated for an Old Paper Drive to be made by school children in the coming weeks, to raise funds for purchase of orchestra instruments. C. W. Preston, principal of the school, is in charge of this. He states that the class raising the greater sum of money will be rewarded by a trip to some point of civic interest.

Score at Glendale Show

A total of twenty or more residents of Eagle Rock attended the big benefit performance held at Glendale last night, in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, for the purpose of raising funds for the families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan, fire victims.

Eagle Rock will continue her efforts to collect benefit funds until the $250 she pledged has been raised, reports Donnell G. Montgomery, deputy city clerk and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

LA CRESCENTA

PTOMAINE POISON VICTIM RECOVERS

Earl Palmer Reported on Way Back to Health After Sudden Attack

The second son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer to be stricken with ptomaine poisoning was rushed to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Sunday night, where a special nurse was engaged for him. Earl is on the road to recovery under the care of Dr. Westphal and Dr. Russell, and may be said to be out of danger.

This youngster has come into prominence at the Sennett studios and is a handsome little chap with a winsome smile. His father is president of the Seven Hills Rifle club, and the oldest child, Eugene, was a crack shot when only two years of age, winning much publicity on the Pantages circuit with his marksmanship.

The Palmers will hold the funeral of the eight months old infant who died Saturday, after the coroner's inquest has been held over the body, which is at Kiefer & Eyerick's undertaking parlors.

Express Gratitude

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer wish to thank all interested friends and neighbors who have been so kind to them in their trial, particularly Rev. Kelso, who has done all in his power to comfort the bereaved parents.

The eight months old infant was found dead in bed by the mother after the father had left for his work. The child had never been strong, so it was not thought strange when the little one became sick. It was not until the mother went to the bed to turn it over that she discovered it was dead.

La Crescentans received somewhat of a shock when passing the old office of Collins & Tillinghast, on the northwest corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues, to see the beautiful oak trees had been cut down.

Walter Brown has recovered from his automobile accident of last week and is now back in school. Walter is limping, but feels he is quite lucky to be out so soon.

Residents of the valley will be glad to learn of the return of Eric Fowler, owner of the stone house on South Los Angeles avenue. Mr. Fowler is expected here on or about the 15th, and it is understood he will throw his acreage on the market as a subdivision, on his return.

Dance to Raise Funds

The Improvement association will give a dance on the night of December 1 to raise funds to equip the fire truck.

The program committee of the Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. George Haskins on Monday afternoon. Programs were planned for club days up to February. It is expected a number of talented people will be presented to the club members during the coming club days. The committee meeting with the club's president were Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, chairman of the program committee; Mrs. C. Wildhack, Mrs. G. Pinkus, Mrs. C. Rhienhard and the hostess, Mrs. Haskins.

A jolly Hallowe'en costume party en masque was given at the Sparr Heights Community house on Saturday evening. Hosts and hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Don Urkert, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith and Guy Carlson. Moonlight waltzes, with a large spotlight, confetti throwing and other fun were features of the evening. Refreshments carried out the Hallowe'en motifs, as did the decorations.

BILLER WINS IN BOUT WITH FLYNN

Pasadena Boy in Limelight as Slashing Go Rouses Fans' Enthusiasm

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff

Teddy Biller of Pasadena was the outstanding star of the show staged last night at Hahn's auditorium by Matchmaker Les Marston of the Glendale Athletic club. Biller and Packey Flynn put up four rounds of good fighting, and as the former got the decision, which met with the approval of the fans, and even Packey himself, as he smiled and shook hands with the victor, to Biller must go the main honors of the evening.

Although their event was not scheduled as the head-liner, it was by far the best scrap of the evening. Packey carries a mean left, but did not seem to be able to land it on Biller. The Pasadena boy is no mean southpaw artist himself, and beat Packey at his own game. Biller's speed is impressive, he is clever, and a fairly good puncher. He is sure of a good hand whenever he appears in a local ring, after last night's performance. Flynn put up a good fight also, but was outguessed and slightly outpointed.

Forester Substitutes

In the main event Eddie Brown failed to show up and Bud Forester, local boy, went on in his place against Battling Ward. They battled four rounds to a draw, although some thought that Ward had the edge. Forester's showing was good, considering that he entered the ring on a moment's notice.

Pete Essick and Freddie Klagge also fought to a draw. These boys are very evenly matched, and put on a good exhibition. They are both strong on the infighting, and there is action every minute between the gongs. The draw decision was fair to both boys.

Jimmy Berry showed ability in putting Kid Frisco down for the count. The curly-haired boy took a count of eight twice in the first round, and finally failed to come back when a right to the jaw put him down in the second. Berry was not compelled to extend himself. A match between this boy and some mitt pusher that could make him extend himself, would be a big drawing card.

"Bool" Will Wrestle

A four-round draw between Young Kelly and Fred Wallace, a decision given to Herb Nelson in the third round over Young Tony and a three-round curtain raiser rounded out the program which was run off with a snap.

There was a good-sized crowd on hand, and Lieutenant Royle of the police department made a short speech of appreciation on behalf of Officer Baugh, on whose behalf the benefit performance was staged.

It was announced from the ring last night that on Monday, November 12, Armistice day, "Bool" Montana would wrestle some opponent yet to be selected. As an added feature, the announcement was also made that the bout would be refereed by "Strangler" Lewis, champion of the world, who is now on the coast for a series of engagements. This will no doubt attract a large crowd of fans. Hackenschmidt, local boy, challenged the Bull, stating, however, that it would have to be a finish match without any time limit.

Little Fellows Hold Visitors to Lone Tally During See-Saw Battle

By NEAL SOOY
Written for The Evening News

Fighting gamely against heavy odds of weight and experience, the Glendale Union High school 110 pounders met defeat at the hands of the Los Angeles High fleaweights, 6-0, in a game played yesterday on the local field.

The battle see-sawed up and down the field almost the entire game, with the ball in the locals' territory most of the time. However, it was not until the last few minutes of the game that the baby Pioneers were able to shove across their only marker.

As the Blue and White pinweights have had about a month more practice and have also been in several games already, not to mention the extra beef that they carried. Coach Wolfe is quite well pleased with the showing the Red and Black babes made against them.

Harris Knocked Out

The locals were sailing along pretty well until their star fullback, Harris, was knocked cuckoo and had to be taken out of the game. Up until that event he had been the most consistent ground gainer and was steady on the defense. Dave Ward, at quarter, was good at barking signals and tossing passes, and also as safety man. Art Cressy at left half proved to be adept at snagglig passes and pulling off a few yards. The only fault with the 110's seems to be that the line can't open holes and are weak on the defense. Meggs, who holds down left tackle, was the only linesman who could get through and stop the backfield men. With a little charging practice the line should be improved.

The pinweights snap into action again when they play in the preliminary of the Glendale-Van Nuys heavyweight game on Armistice day. They take on the Burbank 130's and are aching for revenge of their previous defeat at the hands of these same miniature pigskinners. Although hampered by weight, they make up by fast open-field playing and plan to make the heavier lads step fast to keep up with the pace they set.

OXY TRAINS FOR CALTEK BATTLE

Armistice Day Contest Will Give Clear Line on Conference Title

Coach "Timberwolf" Pipal took his bunch of warriors over to the Pasadena Rose Bowl yesterday afternoon for a secret practice behind locked gates. This was the first time the Tigers have gamboled on the green of the new stadium. They heartily enjoyed the rather strenuous workout on a real gridiron.

Coaches Pipal, Rundquist and Nichols wasted no time during the afternoon, but kept the men humping right along. They are out to beat the Caltech Engineers next Monday afternoon, Armistice Day, in the Rose Bowl. Occidental's team knows they have a battle ahead of them and the the conference championship depends on this conflict between the only two teams that could possibly win the title.

Oxy has all in the world to win and all in the world to lose. If they defeat Calteck, the path to first honors is practically clear sliding. If they lose, there will undoubtedly be a tie between three teams, namely: Oxy, Whittier and Calteck. On the other hand, the Engineer eleven can't cop the title because they lost to Whittier, due to a fluke, which ended in Johns rambling down the field with a fumble. According to the dope, Calteck beat Pomona, Pomona beat S. B. U. C. and Whittier beat Calteck, and Occidental cleaned the Quakers, so they stand favorites in their coming battles with Calteck, S. B. U. C. and Pomona.

Pierre Priaulx, star Tiger center, who broke his leg in two places on the first play of the Whittier game last Saturday afternoon, is now in the Pasadena hospital and doing as well as can be expected. Gordon Shoaf, quarter; Garey, tackle, and McDonald, guard, will all be on deck to mix with the Pasadena team next Monday. These three first-string men did not even get in the game last week, due to injuries, but they are out of the sick ward now. Calteck will opposed a stronger team than Whittier did, because Garey's 185 pounds of muscle increases the forward wall 50 per cent.

Every Oxy student is talking about beating Calteck, and they have the old fighting spirit stirred up already.

Quezon Capitulates in Anti-American Row

MANILA, Nov. 7. — Manuel Quezon, Piedro Roxas and Senor Osmena, political leaders and heads of the Philippine independence movement, met leading members of the American community here at luncheon today at the Manila hotel for the purpose of agreeing on a plan for the immediate and decisive settlement of the Philippine problem.

The meeting was regarded by political observers as marking the capitulation of Quezon in his anti-American campaign and it is believed there is a possibility that an agreement satisfactory to both sides will be reached.

BEARS' INVASION STIRS GRID FANS

Game With Trojans to Settle Supremacy of Rivals at L. A. Coliseum

By "DOC" McGILLIS
Of The Evening News Staff

When Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson's University of Southern California football team takes the field Saturday afternoon against Andy Smith's maddened California Bears, some 70,000 rabid gridiron fans will be gazing on two of the most determined groups of athletes ever to face each other in competition. Both of the strategists, as well as their charges, will be out striving to show their followers that their early season upsets were nothing more than "flukes" and temporary reversals of form. More than that—they will be enacting a "Custer's Last Stand" in an endeavor to remain in the fight for 1923 Pacific Coast conference honors.

These reasons, together with the fact that the two squads have furnished the closest rivalry for far western grid supremacy during the past three years, will insure the fans witnessing one of the greatest and most interesting battles ever staged on any field. With such a picture, displayed in the magnificent setting of a mammoth 80,000 capacity Coliseum, superseding even those of ancient Rome, what more picturesque and ideal conditions could any sport-loving individual desire? Anyone living in Southern California having the least inclination toward the greatest of all intercollegiate athletic events who doesn't avail himself or herself of this unprecedented opportunity should be prohibited from ever seeing a football game.

Meet On Even Basis

For the first time in several seasons the U. S. C. Trojans will face California's Golden Bears on an even basis—i. e., as far as betting is concerned. Where backers of the Cardinal and Gold have taken odds from 8 to 5 up to 4 to 1 in the past they are now hardly able to satisfy their wagering desires at even money. And all on account of last week's disastrous showing of the Bruins against the plucky University of Nevada eleven, in which they were lucky to get away without being defeated.

To be sure, it may be truthfully stated that the Berkeley boys may have had an off day in their struggle with the Jackrabbits, but why couldn't the same be said of the Trojans in their 22 to 0 catastrophe with Enoch Bagshaw's Washington huskies? Both squads went into these battles with over-confidence and cocksureness that has spelled the downfall of many sterling organizations, and it's a cinch that neither will emerge through the Exposition park tunnels Saturday afternoon with the same spirit.

Smith Changes Tactics?

There is one more possibility that might cause California followers to place their team as the favorite, although it is very unlikely, to-wit: That Andy Smith has changed his tactics of years past in not running up large scores, substituting in its stead the Henderson system of holding back the team's best plays and tricks for a big contest. However if this be the case, one would be of the opinion that "Lean Andy" would at least have been present at the Nevada conflict and also that he would have sent all of his first string men into the lineup—at least for a few minutes of the game.

Taking it all in all, it seems as though the tanbark representatives of the state's largest universities will clash on a 50-50 basis, with the odds going to the team which "gets under way" first. The more we attempt to ponder over statistics, comparative scores, etc., the more hopeless the task seems. The only safe way to risk a prediction is to wait until the crowds begin to trickle from the Coliseum about sundown Saturday.

Divorce by Mail Is Offered as Solution

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Divorce by mail is the newest suggestion offered by Rupert Hughes, noted author, who advocates easy divorce as a possible solution of the divorce problem.

Addressing a gathering of clubwomen here today, Hughes stated that a husband or wife should be able to divorce the other by sending a registered letter giving notice of the desire to end the marriage.

Hugh Pomeroy Talks Before Exchange Club

That Los Angeles county is now in the transition stage from an agricultural to a metropolitan area was brought out at this noon's Exchange club luncheon in Jensen's Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard, by Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the county planning commission.

"While it is true that we are taking our place by the side of New York, Boston, Chicago and other great metropolitan areas," said Mr. Pomeroy, "we aim to accomplish unification rather by affecting a federation of communities than by annexation with the metropolis of Los Angeles.

"Our aim is to have a 100-foot boulevard every mile, an 80-foot highway every half mile and a 60-foot road every quarter mile, but we do not propose merely to convert Los Angeles into a gigantic checker board. Whatever existing lines of communication can be utilized, we are utilizing them.

"What we need today is a vision of tomorrow. You almost have to lie to tell the truth about Los Angeles county. Twenty years ago, it would have been easy to widen Spring street, Los Angeles, for instance, whereas today it would require a major operation. And twenty years from now, for example, a major operation would be required to widen San Fernando road, whereas today a minor operation will accomplish it. The county planning commission aims first to sound the keynote of the transportation need, and second to accomplish the need."

Slain Klan Official Knew Death Impended

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—"Don't be surpised if I am murdered. It is coming. They have sworn to get me; they have told me they will get me—and I guess they will, all right."

Such was a statement said to have been made here by William S. Coburn, who was shot to death in Atlanta, Ga., Monday afternoon in what is said to be a plot within a plot in the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan. Coburn, who organized the Pacific domain of the Klan, and who was appointed grand goblin of the organization late in 1921, knew he was "marked for death" more than a year before he was assassinated, according to Attorney George C. Watson, an old friend of Coburn's.

Coburn, according to Watson, had been fighting since he joined the Klan to make it more open, and rid it of undesirables. Watson said he was Coburn's attorney during his trial with thirty-two other Klansmen for ther alleged participation in the Inglewood raid here in April, 1922.

"Shortly after the trial," Watson said, "Coburn told me, 'Don't be surprised, if you read in a newspaper some day, that I've been murdered. They have threatened to get me and several others who have stood by me in this fight against certain factions of the Klan.'"

Coburn also had trouble with the Klan in Oklahoma and Texas before he came to California, according to Watson.

referred to the benefit as "something that we owe."

Will Rogers, whose monologue appears elsewhere in this paper, was witty and genial, as always. If anything, he broke all former gum-chewing records. Milton Sills, Ph. D., startled his audience with a philosophical discourse whose theme was the reconciliation of his one-time professorial leanings with his present film hero role. Herbert Rawlinson cracked a number of jokes both at his own expense and that of Glendale. He ended with a serious thought, telling the audience how good it was to look into their faces, an experience denied those who act before the camera.

Music and Dancing

Ernest Torrance, that dignified, fine-featured character actor was startling in an original Russian ballad at the piano. Wanda Hawley, lovely peaches-and-cream blonde, also acquitted herself splendidly with piano selections. Viola Dana and her sister Shirley Mason, did a colorful Argentine tango, dressed in costume, and with a troupe of their own Spanish troubadors.

Agnes Ayres simply appeared before the audience and let them feast for a moment on her beauty, but that was sufficient. She revealed herself as lovely indeed. Jacqueline Logan did a clever dance monologue. Ruth Roland sang. Clara Kimball Young talked reminiscently of the old days at Vitagraph's Brooklyn studio. Little Michael Howe, aged 9 years, played the xylophone as it has seldom been played by anyone, anywhere, revealing himself truly as "the boy genius," accompanied by Monroe Jockers.

Arthur Stuart Hull recited a humorous prohibition ballad wherein it was recounted how a poor down-and-outer had been reclaimed "from the pathway of vice to a pineapple ice." Lew Cody gave two or three Canuck monologues. William Desmond amused the audience with a harmonica. George Melford recited a little ditty recalling the days of the "one-reeler."

Gardner and Dresser

Jack Gardner and Louise Dresser opened the program with a song duet, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," following which Louise Dresser sang "My Gal Sal." They concluded with a song medley of "Old Songs from A to Z," which proved to be most entertaining. Jack Gardner has just finished a picture with Jim Cruse for Paramount, called "To the Ladies," while Louise Dresser is working now at the Lasky lot on "The Next Corner," a Sam Wood production.

Full acknowledgment for their respective parts in making the big benefit an outstanding success was made to the Gardners, who arranged and staged the affair; Mayor Robinson, chairman of the general committee; Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale theatre, program chairman; Commander Chalmer D. Day of the local American Legion post, ticket chairman; The Glendale Evening News, which through its job printing department provided the programs, donated by A. T. Cowan, publisher and proprietor of this newspaper; F. Grayson Sayre, celebrated artist, who furnished the symbolic sketch for the program; J. R. Thorpe, who provided the engraving of Mr. Sayre's illustration, and the many members of committees and others whose work went gladly into making this benefit the greatest in Glendale's history.

"Mayor of Glendale."

A similar letter was sent to Mrs. Edwards, except that it was stated her check was for $1,831.45, the reason being as already explained. The additional money received by The Glendale Evening News after the checks were made out will, of course, be forwarded to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan.

Since the list of subscribers was last printed, several donations have been received, among them a check from S. W. Brown for $10. This sum, and others, was included in the total from which the checks were issued.

A complete list of subscribers, together with the amounts they subscribed, was sent to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan. Similar lists are on file at this office.

It is acknowledged that the big-hearted people of Glendale responded liberally to the call—just as they may be expected to do for any worthy cause.

Brilliant Benefit Bill
Glendale Needs Builders
"Start the New Year Right"
Members of Our Staff

By Gil A. Cowan

Brilliant is a term descriptive of the benefit show staged here last night at the beautiful Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for the benefit of the bereaved families of the Glendale fire heroes.

It would be possible to exhaust a supply of adjectives in praising the affair which was so well carried out, but suffice it to say that to Louise Dresser goes a great share of the credit. As a resident of Glendale this star of the stage and screen blesses the community with her ability to bring together the great aggregation appearing here last night.

There are other individuals who should be mentioned, but it is futile to try to praise all, for each and every one who contributed their energy is deserving. It is seldom that such a show is staged where the entire proceeds go to the cause.

It has meant that many people personally contributed more than that which is credited them in cash contributions which have been published.

Glendale is well advertised as "the fastest growing city in America." It has attracted a great flood of newcomers, but now it should take a "new tack." It should go out and interest the investors in income property. It should bring here the builders who want to provide homes for the hundreds of people who are coming.

Sad, but true, The Glendale Evening News, as well as other organizations in the city, is experiencing difficulty in housing new members of its staff. What is needed here now is rental property in which children are acceptable.

The Chamber of Commerce should next turn its efforts to bringing here the home builders who are willing to make a permanent investment in moderate-priced dwellings, apartments and flats.

Now that the date for the sewer bond election in Glendale has been tentatively set we have implicit confidence in the civic organizations to get squarely behind the city council and take the most progressive step in the history of a growing community.

As a slogan, may it not be suggested that "Start the New Year Right—Vote the Sewer Bonds," would be particularly appropriate?

But back of any slogan must be organization which will bring home to the mind of every thinking citizen the necessity for a sewer system in this city, which is fast approaching 50,000.

It matters little about personal feelings at this hour. Glendale must meet the occasion with the same spirit of oneness that has marked its achievement in other lines.

"United we stand, divided we fall," were the ringing words in the days when American independence was first proclaimed. This American city should re-echo that sentiment in the crisis which now confronts it.

Perhaps you have read articles by F. A. Graham, member of The Glendale Evening News staff, who writes from Tujunga. There's a clever young fellow who works under a great handicap with the courage of a lion. He writes the neighborhood notes of the community, giving a good insight into the character of the foothill people, and occasionally breaks forth in some humorous strain that is irresistible. We are glad to have Graham writing for us.

And there's a couple of other fellows come to our staff recently who are worthy of comment. O. K. Williams, who hails from Joplin, Mo., where he was brought up in the circulation department of the News-Herald, now is in charge of the carrier service of The Glendale Evening News. He is a man the boys like. As a circulation manager he is going to make many friends here and give mighty good service. For the last year he has been with the San Francisco Examiner.

Al Dix of the Denver Post and Springfield, Ill., Republican, has joined the editorial staff and is making himself known. Al is an all-round fellow, even to playing a piano or playing baseball equally as well. He has served in the army, being a captain in the Canadian forces long before America got into the ruckus "over there." He also has been an official baseball scorer, a manufacturer of ice cream at Montrose, Colo., and, best of all, he is father of two cute kiddies who are coming to Glendale to live.

We could tell you a whole lot about the personalities which make up The Glendale Evening News staff. But we know you see them in the spirit of this newspaper.

Realty Firm Leases W. Broadway Office

C. B. Monroe and D. M. Sullivan, who came here recently from Calgary, Canada, and entered into the real estate business, have leased half the office occupied by Sawyer & Bolen, 211 West Broadway, and are having alterations made in the interior of the building that will permit them to handle their business on a basis of greater efficiency.

In connection with the $100,000,000 electrical-supply project at Melbourne, Australia, a model town to house 3,000 people in homes to cost over $3,200,000 has been started.

CLOSED CARS IN POPULAR DEMAND

Nash's Original Body Types Output of Expert in Coach Designing

Enclosed car shows held this fall in various cities throughout the country have made clear public preference for the automobile of this type.

"Never before in the history of the industry has the enclosed car met with such wide favor," says Donald H. Barbee, sales manager of the Nash Sales Company, Inc., 112 South Maryland street, local agents. "As a matter of fact, since last February Nash Motors has been unable any month to meet the full demand for enclosed models. Reports from practically all sections of the country tell the same story, demand having reached a point where definite plans for increase of Nash enclosed car production have been made necessary."

Men identified with the automobile industry who are in a position to speak with authority declare that ingenuity in the creation of original body styles has made Nash Motors an acknowledged leader in the art of coach design, Mr. Barbee claims. The Nash line of fourteen models includes seven enclosed cars, four on the six-cylinder chassis and three on the four-cylinder chassis. These models include at least three body designs entirely original with Nash.

The cars referred to are the new Nash Victoria, a picturesque and thoroughly original car of the coupe type; the Nash four-door Coupe, 5000 of which have passed into the hands of buyers since its introduction last January, and the Nash Carriole, a 5-passenger enclosed car on the four-cylinder chassis.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"If Winter Comes" continues at the Glendale Theatre, where it is enjoying a decidedly successful run. The story, known to millions through the immensely successful book by A. S. M. Hutchinson, has been made by Harry Millarde for Fox as a most lavish production, featuring a notable cast.

The vividness and genuineness of each character, the beauty of the scenes, the startling theme enunciated, all serve to leave on the mind an indelible impression after seeing this master picture.

In the cast of "If Winter Comes" are to be found Percy Marmont, Ann Forrest, Wallace Kolb, Russell Sedgwick, Gladys Leslie, Virginia Lee and many others. The story is of Mark Sabre and his wife, Mabel, living at Penny Green, near London in 1912. They did not get along any too well and ultimately another woman enters his life. The story from there on, intensely realistic, becomes dramatic, producing a startling climax.

WORK RUSHED ON NEW BALL PARK

Clubhouses, Grandstands High Board Fence Are Being Built

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff

Work on Glendale's new ball park, located at the corner of Park avenue and San Fernando road is being rushed to completion, this spot being one of the busiest in this busy city. Frank A. Kerwin, Grant Leischner and associates, owners of the Glendale franchise in the Triple A league, have the work under their personal supervision, while J. G. "Pickles" Heinz is in charge of the carpenter work.

When completed the Glendale park will be second to none in Southern California with the exception of the Pacific Coast league plants. A board fence eight foot high completely encloses the park with the exception of the space occupied by the grand stand. This is 416 feet in length from the center to the right field corner, and 275 feet to the left field end. This gives ample room to the outfield, so that pitchers working in this park will not have to contend with home runs hit over short field fences, which are so common today. The distance from home plate to the center field fence is approximately 600 feet, hence it will take a real blow to put the ball over at this point.

2000 Seating Capacity

The grandstand, the framework of which is practically up, will have a seating capacity of two thousand, including boxes. There will be ten rows of seats 158 feet in length. The entire grand stand will be covered. The owners have spared no expense in the construction of this part of the park, especial care being taken to make it absolutely safe for a capacity crowd. The stand will face in a northwest direction, so that the afternoon sun will not bother either the spectators or players. There will be no sun field in the new park.

To the right of the grandstand will be located the club house. This will be modern in every respect, including rubbing tables and shower baths, lockers for the players and umpires. Each team will have its own compartment, which will be in charge of a caretaker.

Big Score Board

In the outfield will be located a twenty-five foot score board, giving outs, balls and strikes and other data necessary to follow the game, so that anyone that is not entirely familiar with the pastime may follow it closely. At the present time no bleachers will be constructed, but the park has been planned in such a way that these can be added when it is thought necessary, without disturbing the diamond.

The diamond will be one of the fastest in the state. The infield will be sodded, as will the space between the catcher's box and the grand stand, thus offering relief from the glare of the sun. Sodded diamonds have been found to be superior in every way, and it was decided to have the best, although it will entail the expenditure of quite a sum of money.

When completed the ball park will cost about $10,000. According to the present plan, the opening game will be played in the park on November 25. An effort is being made by the directors to have the co-operation of the city in making this a banner day for sports in Glendale.

Motor Trip Into Mexico's Mining District by Local Men Reveals Need of Signs

Back from a record-breaking dash down to the Ures mining district in the southeastern part of Sonora, Mexico, for the purpose of closing an option on a gold, silver and copper property, L. J. Alexander of 202 North Central avenue describes vividly the conditions found there and details of the trip, on which he was accompanied by Arch Miller of 1742 Opechee way, at the wheel, and A. Homer Black, mining engineer.

The party drove from Glendale via San Diego to Yuma, Ariz., the first day to Tuscon, Ariz., via Aztec, Sentinel and Ajo.

Condition of Roads.

The road from Yuma to Aztec they report as graded and in good condition, but from Aztec to Ajo it is very poor, entirely ungraded. Through the Indian reservation they found good going, over a mountain road, and the balance of the way into Tuscon was graded road.

The third day the party drove to Hermosillio, Sonora, via Nogales, Ariz., and Magdalena. The 70 miles from Tuscon to Nogales they report is over a first class road.

At Nogales the party was delayed about two hours by American and Mexican customs officials. A ten day permit to take the car into Mexico was finally secured without cost, after which the party continued on their way.

Miss Auto Club Signs

Immediately they passed over into Mexico, they missed the elaborate system of sign posting by the Automobile Club of Southern California, which has added much to the pleasure and safety of motoring in hte Southwest. After losing the road several times, they finally arrived at Magdalena, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, from which point they started on a night's drive to Hermosillo.

One of the principal occupations in Mexico, according to Mr. Miller, or "Tex," as he is better known, is hauling wood for fuel. This occupation leads to a multiplicity of small roads, which makes travel without signs extremely difficult in the day time and utterly impossible at night, without special knowledge of the country.

Steers Course, by Star

It was at this point that Tex's training on the Texas plains came into play, as he steered a course due south by Polaris, and after many false starts from small towns along the line, the party ultimately arrived at Hermosillo, just at dawn.

The road from Nogales to Magdalena is reported as about a 14 mile an hour ungraded desert road, and from Magdalena to Hermosillio a 12 mile per hour road. There are no bad curves, but the road is full of chuck holes, which make going extremely hazardous.

From Hermosillo to Torres, a distance of 40 miles, the roads were found to be in fair shape; and from Torres to La Colorado they were found to be good. From La Colorado they struck a very fair road east to Rebecio, the location of the mine on which the party had come to close an option.

Need Money and Roads

This done, return trip was begun, the only deviation from the route taken in returning being from Tuscon to Sentinel, where the party traveled via Casa Grande and Gila Bend, which route they recommend to others who may choose to motor between Yuma and Tuscon.

Commenting on their experiences with the Mexican people, Mr. Alexander states that he found them very friendly and eager to see American capital coming into the country.

"Tex" Miller says it takes a trip into a non-signposted country like Mexico to make motorists appreciate the stupendous work performed by the Automobile club, in signing the highways and the byways of the Southland.

ART EXHIBITION LURES PARENTS

California Prints to Be Seen at Central Avenue School

Carrying out the endeavor made last year under the presidency of Mrs. D. F. Reichard, the Central Avenue Parent-Teachers' association, is securing fine art exhibits for the auditorium of the school, and during this month a splendid collection of compositions will be hung and all Glendalians are invited to join with the school teachers, pupils and patrons in enjoying it.

This present collection has been secured from the California Print Makers' society, a branch of the national organization of that name, and represents both America and foreign artists.

Mrs. Reichard, who is now treasurer of the P.-T. A., has secured this collection through the aid of Howell Brown, artist of Pasadena and secretary of the print society.

50 Pieces in Exhibit

There are fifty pieces in the exhibit, including etchings, block prints in color and black and white, acqua tints, dry point etchings and lithographs.

Glendale is particularly interested in the collection for it includes several pieces by John W. Cotton, nationally known etcher and resident of Glendale.

All those who visit the exhibit will receive a pamphlet containing interesting information on the making of etchings, block prints and lithographs, according to Miss Annie McIntyre, the principal of the school.

Glendale Subway Now Urged in Los Angeles

The Los Angeles board of public utilities is now urging the Pacific Electric company to proceed at once with the subway which will take the Glendale and Hollywood line cars off the streets in the business section of Los Angeles and route them directly under Bunker hill into the Hill street station. They do not deem advisable the plan to wait until a complete subway system has been approved.

TUJUNGA TALENT PLAN RADIO BILL

Special Numbers Arranged for Early Presentation by Hill Comedians

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff

Radio is a wonderful thing. Everybody admits it. Some even brag about it, if theirs can connect with anything over 500 miles distant.

Uncle John says that radio puts things right into the heart of the home. If such be the case, a lot of full-grown towns have been moving into the well-known ultimate consumers' parlor.

Every night is some town's night. Tujunga had one some months ago. Pacoima had a couple, and on around the loop. Latest successful vibrations on the air came from Glendale. Looks like the boomerang was going home to roost and Tujunga would have to gather up its home-grown musical athletes and broadcast another field meet in self-defense.

Talented Tujunga

If any of these upstart towns think they can spot Tujunga any biscuits in this radio program broadcasting, let them beware. Talent blooms in the hillside town like hair at a House of David convention.

Tujunga's minute men and women entertainers are always ready. If popular opinion demands another Tujunga night no amount of adverse legislation can prevent the broadcasting of a program like this:

Opening speech — "Denial of Mayoralty Rumors," by John Steven MsGroarty.

Song — "Clean Up Week," by Chamber of Commerce, assisted by food profiteers.

Pianologue, with gestures — "Shaving the Face On the Barroom Floor," by Dan Warnick, tonsorialist.

Sacred anthem — "Forgive Us Our Debts as We Forgive Our Debtors," by Building and Loan association.

Educational talk — "We Teach But One 'R,'—Reading. Tax collector does your 'rithmetic and divorce lawyer does your 'riting," by Professor Fred Axe.

Needlework—"Plain and Fancy Stitching," by Tujunga Emergency Hospital choir.

Jack Bloodgood, fiddle-ist, will render popular music unpopular.

Bed Time Fables

"Lower Taxes," "Cheaper Real Estate," and other bed time fables, by Tujunga Valley Realty Board.

Popular selection—"Never Say Anything You Can't Deny. That Is it." By W. N. Perry.

Oration, without gestures — "Hew to the Line, Let the Checks Fall Where They Will," by Bob Walker, cashier Tujunga Valley bank.

"What I Think of Tujunga," by Sunland boosters.

"Why They Call a Certain Place 'West Tujunga'," rebuttal song by Business Men's association.

James Blaine, deputy fire warden, will chant his favorite ballad, "Keep the Home Fires Burning at Home."

Tujunga Valley ball club quartet will render "After the Ball." Dutch Brandstetter will sing first bass.

Phil Reihm, butcher shop proprietor, will render "Till We Meat Again' and "Lard."

Reading, from personal reminiscences—"The Great Safety Pin Holdup—Why It Failed," by Deputy Constable Ed McCarty.

Barnyard song from opera "Chanticleer" — "Feed the Hens Sour Mash, So They Will Lay Egg-nogs." Whistled with expression changes by Pete Desjardin, poultryman.

"How We Use Poetry in Building You a Home," original composition, sung by the contractors' and builders' trio—Dick Smith, Jeffries & Jeffries and Lester Purer. This will be the first pantomime ever broadcast from any station.

Recitation — "Charge of the Light Brigade," by Mr. Smedley, manager Edison Electric company.

Song — "Fond Recollections," by chorus of original Little Landers.

"By the Waters of Minnetohnka," sung by dairy customers.

"Buy the Waters of Big Tujunga," laughing receipt serenade to city of Los Angeles for $20,000 damages, by trio composed of Haines Canyon Water company, Western Empire association and Hansen interests.

Eddie Geldmacher will pass the hat.

Glendalians Invited to Carnival of States

Invitations have been extended many Glendale people by the Carnival of States committee of the Federation of State Societies and the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce for the grand military ball which is to be staged Friday night, November 9, at the Long Beach municipal auditorium. Strictly formal evening or fancy dress costumes will be worn.

Elder McElhany to Attend Dedication

Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, left last evening for Lodi for the purpose of attending a conference to be held there, and to preside at the dedication of a new office building which has just been completed for the conference in that city. He will return to Glendale on Thursday.

REAL FIGHT FOR PRIZES STARTED

Evening News Salesmanship Club Members Begin Real Work

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

Today marks the real beginning of The Glendale Evening News' $10,500 salesmanship club and greater circulation campaign.

It is off with a B-A-N-G!

On another page of this paper may be found the standing of the club members. The totals include credits and subscriptions received at this office up to 5:30 o'clock last night.

A glance at the list will show that this is to be SOME race. In most instances just a few subscriptions would change the lineup entirely and crown new leaders. No one has a big lead, no one is hopelessly beaten. In fact, the first count proves more conclusively than words that there are BIG opportunities in both districts for more live-wire workers, and an equally big opportunity for present club members to lead the entire field in a comparatively short time.

Taking the 50,000 EXTRA credits which are issued for every "club" of $25 worth of subscriptions, into consideration, the totals today are exceptionally small. They will not remain that way long, however. An inspired few will see the possibilities, step in and get a start that will make it almost impossible for the others to catch up. Perhaps you can get that kind of an inspiration.

It Is Anyone's Race

There is nothing in today's count to disturb anyone. On the other hand, there are such BIG possibilities that to overlook this chance to get on the payroll of this campaign and make from $25 to $275 a week is like failing to pick up money from the street.

It is surely anyone's race for the $2,250 building lot in Sparr Heights, or the $1,500 building lot in Oakmont Heights, or the Nash four or Maxwell touring cars, or any of the other twelve liberal prizes. Don't get discouraged now that the campaign is on in real earnest, and don't let anyone else discourage you. SOMEONE FROM SOMEWHERE WILL EARN THE BIG PRIZES and you may just as well be included in that "someone" class as your neighbor or fellow townsmen. All it takes to win is to first recognize an opportunity when you see it and, second, a little well-directed effort.

From this time forward the campaign will go with a rush. Club members who have started work should not lose a minute's time. There is still a great deal of territory that has never been covered at all—thousands of peo-

Install New Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta

The Pi Kappa Delta National Forensic society has recently installed a chapter at the University of California, Southern Branch. The members of Pi Kappa Delta gathered together at a banquet at the Egyptian Village for the purpose of installing and initiating the new chapter. The ceremonies were very impressive and inspirational, emphasizing the aims and high ideals of the organization. Among those initiated was Dr. Moore, the able director of the Branch. After the rites of initiation and installation were observed, a banquet was served.

Frank Minks of the Branch was the toastmaster. Dr. Moore spoke briefly on the value of forensics. Dr. McArthur of California Institute of Technology, Professor Nickols of Redlands, Lillian Zellhoefer of Occidental, Dr. C. A. Marsh, national president of Pi Kappa Delta, welcomed the new chapter and enlarged upon ideals and outlook for better things in forensics.

PAPER ASKS BIDS

Letters were sent out yesterday to photographers requesting bids for work in connection with the publication of the Stylus, the Glendale high school annual. November 19th was set as the last day for bids to be handed in, as the football team must be taken in uniform, and the season closes the last week in November.

Internal Revenue Collector Goodcell Urges Citizens to Vote in Club Speech Here

Rex B. Goodcell of Los Angeles, collector of internal revenue for the Southern District, was one of the honored guests yesterday at the luncheon of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and after jovially acknowledging Mrs. Dan Campbell's introduction by declaring himself "infernal collector of eternal revenue," delivered a brief but masterful address to the clubwomen on "Taxation Without Representation."

"There's something wrong with the people of the United States when they so far forget their duty as citizens as to forget to go to the polls to vote," declared Mr. Goodcell.

Urges All to Vote

"The politicians run the government, and to get a better government we must get better politicians, and this can be done by the participation of every citizen in the right to vote. You can't do it by staying home.

"Figures coming from Russia show that there are 442,000 of the communist party in the United States. We're going to have another revolution in this country unless you and I do our part as citizens. That is, we must function as American citizens 365 days in the year.

"Let's begin by being Americans at home, and then consider international relations."

Mr. Goodcell received a hearty ovation from the club women, who enthusiastically applauded him, and, after the luncheon, crowded to the front of the room to congratulate him.

Dr. Myers Speaks

Dr. Irene Myers, dean of Occidental college, and a member of the Glendale College Women's club, was another luncheon guest and speaker. In recognition of "World Court Week," Dr. Myers was asked to speak on "The Permanent Court of International Justice." Following Mr. Goodcell, she spoke most understandingly of international relations, opining that the world court would insure peace.

John W. Cotton, nationally-known etcher and resident of Glendale, was introduced by Mrs. Roy Ballagh, curator of fine arts, and his brief message on art was a fitting presentation of the exhibit of Glendale artists' work now in the banquet room of the clubhouse.

Others On Program

The clubwomen were further honored by having at the luncheon Mrs. O. W. March of Chico, vice-president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, who spoke later at the afternoon meeting.

One of the pleasures of the club gathering was the presence of Mrs. William Ramsay, past president of the club, who has just returned from a two years' trip abroad.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell presided over the business meeting, the first event of the afternoon. She introduced Mrs. March and, on behalf of the club, presented her with a corsage bouquet of roses.

Mrs. March complimented the clubwomen and Glendale on what she called "the finest clubhouse in California." Her brief word of greeting so eloquently and forcefully given, convinced her hearers of her capability as one of the leaders of the state organization.

G. O. Russell Run Over by His Own Car, He Claims

It's bad enough to get run over by some other fellow's car, but when you get run over by your own, then it's just plumb 100 per cent the bunk!

At least, that's the way G. O. Russell feels about it—and he knows. The news might never have trickled, but for S. S. Gilhuly, who enjoys a good joke any day, when it's on his partner. And his partner is the aforesaid G. O. Russell.

It seems that Mr. Russell didn't know it was loaded, or something. At least, it leapt at him while he was shutting the doors, after getting the beast in the garage.

"Talk about ingratitude!" Mr. Russell mutters, limping about the office at 212 South Brand boulevard. "Why, I fed that car faithfully, washed it, polished it—in fact, I lavished on it the affections of a mother for her first born—and now look what it did," exhibiting a bruised shin.

Snow Starts Utah Folk Scurrying to Southland

An inch or more of snow is driving the denizens of northen Utah and adjacent states to southern California, according to Paul Millbrook of 413 North Isabel street, who makes a weekly trip to Salt Lake City in the interests of the Union Pacific railway.

While in the Utah metropolis last week he found this city well advertised, with four families ready to come here to locate. Business men are eager to learn about Glendale, he reports, and they feel that this section is getting practically all residents who are able to retire.

Mrs. Dora Bullock Is Injured in Auto Crash

Mrs. Dora Bullock, who, with her husband, W. P. Bullock, well-known residents of Verdugo road, Glendale, were imperiled in a crash yesterday at Second street and Beaudry avenue, according to reports in the city newspapers. Mrs. Bullock was treated at the receiving hospital for severe cuts and bruises, when the car in which she was riding was smashed by a drug company truck.

ASK COUNTY AID TO CHECK FLOOD

C. of C. Committee to Confer With Supervisor Wright On City Menace

Steps looking to the enlistment of the aid of Los Angeles county in the control of the floods that will menace the city during the coming winter will be discussed by members of the Chamber of Commerce flood control and fire prevention committee in a conference with Supervisor Henry W. Wright tomorrow, when an effort will be made to secure financial help establishing a series of check dams in the canyons that were swept by the recent blaze in the Verdugo Hills.

Lyman P. Clark, chairman of the committee, in submitting his report to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting in Jensen's Egyptian Village yesterday, recounted the action that had been taken by the committee since its appointment, following the fire. Mr. Clark stated that the short rain storm of October 31, lasting little more than an hour, had brought down deposits of silt and ashes that covered a wide area to a depth of six inches in many places.

A study of the canyons and the rest of the area burned over, Mr. Clark stated, showed the immediate necessity for action if Glendale is to be saved from the flood of debris and silt that will be swept down the hills by the rains that will fall during the coming rainy season.

Canyon Holds Threat

L. T. Rowley, a member of the committee, declared that Sycamore Canyon carries the greatest threat to Glendale, as the only outlet from the canyon leads into the streets of the city, and a flood from the canyon would sweep down into the main portions of Glendale unless some definite action is taken to prevent it.

A series of check dams in the canyons, to hold the silt washed down while permitting the water to flow, is recommended by Mr. Rowley.

Secretary E. F. Sanders brought before the board a suggestion that steps be atken to secure increased equipment for the Glendale fire department, to consist of at least two engines, claiming that the present equipment is inadequate to permit the department to cope with a serious or widespread conflagration. Director P. J. Hayselden supported Secretary Sanders, declaring that the present personnel of the department should be increased.

Welcome for Engine

The new electric locomotive for the Glendale & Montrose railway has been spotted as far west as Salt Lake City, wearing Glendale banners and attracting lots of attention everywhere along the route. The engine is expected to arrive here early next week, and it is planned to mark the occasion by a celebration that will be arranged by P. J. Hayselden and in which officials of the Westinghouse Electric Company have asked to share.

The Chamber of Commerce agreed to aid in the preliminary financing of the Glendale Wel-

MANILA, Oct. 7.—Ninety-eight per cent of Filipino harbor intestinal parasites and 79 per cent of the population is infected with hookworm, according to a circular just issued by the director of health giving the results of investigations in various parts of the islands. Carbon tetrachloride was found to be the most effective drug against hookworm and tapeworm and to a lesser degree against ascaris, trichuris and oxyrus—other dangerous parasites of the human interior. The high percentage of infections was found in the province of Cebu, but other portions of the islands showed similar results. Most of the infections were of a light nature.

The Philippine League of Consumers has filed a protest against the current agitation among local chambers of commerce against the continuance of the C. O. D. parcels post system from the United States. They claim that local merchants are charging prices that are inordinately high.

San Fernando, La Union province, on the west coast of Luzon, has been designated as a port at which foreign vessels may load and unload cargo. Other ports having similar privileges are: Pulupandan, Negros; Hondagua, Tayabas; Tabaco, Albay, and Davao, Mindanao. These ports, however, are not regular ports of entry.

Ponciano C. Caramba, a Manila resident, has petitioned the local courts to permit him to change his surname to Maramba. He claims that his present name sounds so much like a favorite Spanish cuss word that it causes him embarrassment at times.

Plans are on foot to bring the 250 healthy children of lepers at the Culion colony to Manila, where they may be free from exposure to the loathesome disease. The ailment has been found not to be hereditary.

A widespread conspiracy to bring Chinese illegally into the Philippines through forged certificates of entry has been unearthed by the customs secret service. A large number of Celestials are believed to have already entered by the illegal route.

The recent differences between tenant farmers and landlords in Naic, Cavite province, as a result of which 1,000 tenants went on strike, have been ironed out, and an agreement has been entered into between the conflicting parties.

Squatters to the number of 138 on the United States military reservation in Tarlac province are making a hard fight against being ousted from Uncle Sam's territory. They recently received an order to clear out, but have steadfastly refused to do so.

RIBBONS, RIBBONS EVERYWHERE

New Fashion Trend In Boudoir Decoration

"He promised to buy me a bunch of blue ribbon to tie up my bonny, brown hair." So runs the old nursery song. And few gifts would be more appreciated these days when ribbon is so popular in trimming, not only clothes and hats but things for the house as well.

The picture illustrates in how many ways ribbon may be used in milady's boudoir, trimming her clothing and everything on her dressing table. Ruchings and pleatings of ribbon are used on the loveliest negligees and boudoir caps. One can see how many yards of this fascinating trimming could be used if one only gave her mind to it.

A visit to the shops reveals the variety of ribbon that is manufactured. The wonderful flowered, brocaded, metal double faced, silk, satin, every kind of ribbon for every occasion. It is not too soon to have one's Christmas list in mind especially if one intends to make things; and bags, hair ornaments and countless other dainty, colorful things may be fashioned from ribbon.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HALLOWEEN

The Fuzzy Fox was in such a hurry to get over to the den of the Woozie Wolf that on his way he slipped and stumbled and fell one day.

"My goodness! What's the matter?" growled the Wolf, as he opened the door of his den and saw the Fox sprawled all over the front steps.

"Oh, I'm in such a hurry to tell you!" gasped the Fox. "This time I have really thought up a sure plan for catching Uncle Wiggily."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Wolf. "No more of your ideas! They all fail!"

"No, but listen," barked the Fox. "This trick is sure to work. Tonight, you know, is Hallowe'en. All the animal boys and girls will dress up with false faces to go out and have fun. Uncle Wiggily himself will go out and be jolly. Now you and I and the Skillery Scallery Alligator can put up like clowns, goblins or witches. We'll mingle with the crowd around Uncle Wiggily. He won't know us and it will be easy to nibble his ears."

"Hum!" murmured the Wolf. "That's the best trick you have yet thought of. We'll try it. Hurry and tell the Skillery Scallery Alligator with the double-jointed tail."

So the Fox told the Alligator and soon the three bad chaps were gathered together, making a plan to catch Uncle Wiggily and nibble the bunny gentleman's ears.

"But first we must get our false faces," said the Fox. "I'll go to the toy store and get mine. You two follow after me, one at a time."

Old Percival, who was too lame and stiff to perform any longer in the circus where he used to work, kept the store where toys and false faces for Hallowe'en were sold. Percival was behind the counter when the Fox slipped slyly in.

"I want the false face of a little lamb," barked the Fox softly.

"That is for no good. "I'll put some red paint on the ears of the lamb's false face and then whoever sees it will know there is a Fox behind the face."

So, without letting the Fox know it. Old Percival daubed some red paint on the ears of the lamb's false face before wrapping it up.

"Ah, my trick is sure to work." snickered the Fox, as he hurried out with the false face.

Next the Wolf slipped into the toy store.

"I want the false face of a pussy cat," he said, trying to speak softly.

"Ha! This is for no good." thought Percival. So he slying daubed some red paint on the ears of the cat's false face he sold the Wolf, and the Wolf knew nothing about it.

Next the Alligator slipped into the toy store.

"I want the false face of a pony for Hallowe'en," rumbled the Skillery Scallery chap.

"This is for no good," thought wise Old Percival. So slyly he daubed some red paint on the ears of the pony's false face that he sold to the Alligator, and the Alligator never knew a thing about it.

After a while Uncle Wiggily hopped into the toy store.

"Hello, Percival!" greeted the rabbit gentleman, gaily twinkling his pink nose. "I want the false face of a clock for my Hallowe'en."

"You shall have it," chuckled Percival. "But, listen, Uncle Wiggily. The Fox was just in here and I sold him a lamb's false face. Then came the Wolf, who bought a cat's face, and, lastly, the Alligator bought a pony's face. I think they are going to play some trick on you."

"Oh, my goodness!" gasped the bunny.

"But listen again!" whispered Percival. "I put red paint on the ears of all three bad chaps' false faces, so you can easily tell them in a crowd."

"Good!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Now that I know, I'll be watching."

The sun went down and it was Hallowe'en. From their homes the animal boys and girls of Woodland ran out to play their games. There were witches, hobgoblins, giants and dwarfs, Jackie Bow Wow, dressed up like a box of crackers and Jollie Longtail, the mouse, like a piece of cheese. Uncle Wiggily was like an alarm clock and Nurse Jane made believe she was a rice pudding.

The Fox, dressed as a lamb; the Wolf, dressed like a cat, and the Alligator, dressed like a pony, mingled in the crowd of Hallowe-en fun-makers.

"Be ready," whispered the Fox to the other two bad chaps. "Get around Uncle Wiggily and when I whistle—grab him."

The Fox, the Wolf and Alligator, in their false faces, drew close to the buny rabbit. Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily cried:

"Pull the red ears! Pull the ears with red paint on."

Instantly his friends looked around. The only ears with red paint on were those of the false faces of the Fox, Wolf and 'Gator. And in a moment the animal boys and girls pulled off these false faces, showing up the bad chaps.

"Ha! Ha! We know who you are. Get away!" cried the animal boys and girls, and they pelted the bad chaps with apples and tomatoes. Away ran the Fox, Wolf and 'Gator, howling and yowling.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, ringing his alarm clock bell. "This is a jolly Hallowe'en."

And if the postman doesn't take our door mat to make a fur coat for his ears. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Squeaker.

Timely Views on World Topics

"CLUB LIFE HAS BENEFITED MANY WOMEN," SAYS WOMAN LEADER

"I am a firm believer in the benefits to be derived from club life of the right sort of women," says Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Women's National Republican Club. "By it I have seen women come to know and love one another. Ideals have been lifted higher by combined vision.

MRS. C. H. SABIN

"There is no truth in the assertion that a 'group of women can never get along.' Women work in unison as admirably as, if not more so, than men.

"In a political club women learn the folly of putting all their eggs in one basket. They see what a mistake it is to get behind only one type of legislation. They know that in order to be convincing they must be ready to voice all opinion, based on fact, observation, logic, psychology, practice, human nature, on any subject having to do with society."

"BEWARE NEW KIND OF PROFITEER," WARNS VETERANS' HEAD

A new kind of profiteer who capitalizes on the injuries of disabled former service men has sprung up all over the country to prey upon the pocketbooks of gullible persons endowed with more sympathy than practical business sense." So declares C. Hamilton Cook, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans. "As Christmas approaches the public should beware of spurious publications and organizations that would mulct them of funds supposedly going to the deserving disabled. The public is annually being fleeced of vast sums of money under the guise of relief for crippled service men. How much this hurts the needy wounded veterans can not be estimated. We are enlisting the Government's aid in protecting ourselves and the people against the fraud perpetrators, and the public must help us by investigating the sources of their contributions."

"IF LEAGUE IS TO BE FEARED ARE OTHER NATIONS BLIND?"

Speaking on "American Politics and the League" before the Politics Club of Columbia University recently Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University queried: "If the arguments alleged against the League are sound, why are these arguments not felt in the other fifty-four countries now in the League—by Great Britain, France, Italy, or Canada, for instance? If the League really damages the sovereignty of a member, why has not England or France, or any other members discovered this? Is their national pride one whit less than ours? If the separate votes of the British colonies or "nations" are really unfair and a menace to other nations, why have not France and the other nations discovered it and objected? Surely they are no more ready to give something for nothing than we are.

"If, because of British 'control,' the League is really anti-Irish, why did Ireland herself join the League in September?

"If the League would really cause our American mothers to sacrifice their boys fighting abroad, would it not bring the same calamity to the mothers in England, France, Canada, or the Argentine? Are we to suppose that love of their sons is less in those countries, or that with all their experience with losing sons in the war, they have not yet learned what war means?

"If the League really stereotypes the boundaries in Europe, why have not France, Italy, and in fact, all those whose boundaries are affected, discovered the fact and refused to enter?

"If the Monroe Doctrine, which we developed to safeguard our Central and South American neighbors was ever really endangered by the League (even before Article XXI, was inserted to safeguard it), why did not those neighbors, the supposed beneficiaries of the doctrine, discover the fact and object?

"If the League is really so utterly wrong as to be required to be scrapped in favor of a new 'association,' why have not other nations discovered this instead of joining the League, fifty-four of them one after another, over a period of four years? In the bargain they have joined the existing League without reservations.

"If Article X. is really dangerous, why has not every other nation discovered it?"

The aqueduct celebration is to be staged Wednesday, November 5, and will draw a great crowd to the vicinity of the reservoir beyond San Fernando. Glendale will assist as the dedicatory poem will be written by Samuel Parker of Glendale.

A huge citron on exhibition in the window of The Glendale Evening News office is a good example of the productiveness of Glendale soil. It was grown by Fred Freitag of 227 East Broadway.

W. F. Simon who has so successfully conducted the Glendale theatre for the past few months has sold the same to Harry Seccombe of New York.

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

WORMS—No. 1

Several months ago I wrote a series of articles on worms. They created so much interest, and we have had so many requests for them that today and tomorrow I shall write again on the subject.

Worms have always been an affliction for the simple reason that there has been such widespread ignorance as to the cause of them.

Worms are not caused by any food—candy or any other food—unless that food is contaminated by worm eggs All living things arise from eggs or seeds. Worms, belonging to the animal kingdom, come from eggs. Therefore, the person who has worms has in some manner eaten or drunk some worm eggs, somehow, sometime.

I shall have to modify that last statement a little for tapeworms. There are three stages to the tapeworms; the egg stage, the encysted or embryo, and the adult stage. There is a beef, a fish and a pork tapeworm. The fish tapeworm is rare in this country.

If you have a tapeworm, it is because you have eaten the flesh of some animal that has eaten the tapeworm eggs. The eggs had hatched in that animal's intestines and the embryo worms had migrated through the intestinal walls to its muscles and became encysted there. You have eaten this muscle as undercooked meat, and one of the encysted worms became the adult tapeworm in your intestines. Hard lines, but it's the nature of the beast.

Worms, while quite common in childhood, are not anywhere nearly so common as is usually supposed. No matter what symptoms a child develops someone suggests that it has worms.

There is only one way to know whether a child has worms or not. That is to examine the stool (bowel movements) frequently. If it has a tapeworm, there will be segments from the tapeworm—firm, grayish white, oblong pieces averaging one-half inch wide and one inch long. If it has pinworms, there will be little worms, looking likea third to a half inch piece of white thread. If it has round worms, you will find worms from five to ten inches long, looking like angle worms, but pointed at each end. You won't mistake them for anything else! (They are the wormiest worms you ever saw.)

These three types of worms are the most common in children.

If you cannot find the worms, an examination of the stool under the microscope will disclose the eggs, probably millions of 'em, if the child has worms.

Mrs. J.: We have an article on rickets, which will help you to understand your little boy's condition and to avoid a similar condition with the new baby, I'm sure. Be sure to self-address and stamp the envelope you send with your request for this article. And ask, for our article on constipation and irrigation.

Tomorrow:—Worms, No II.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

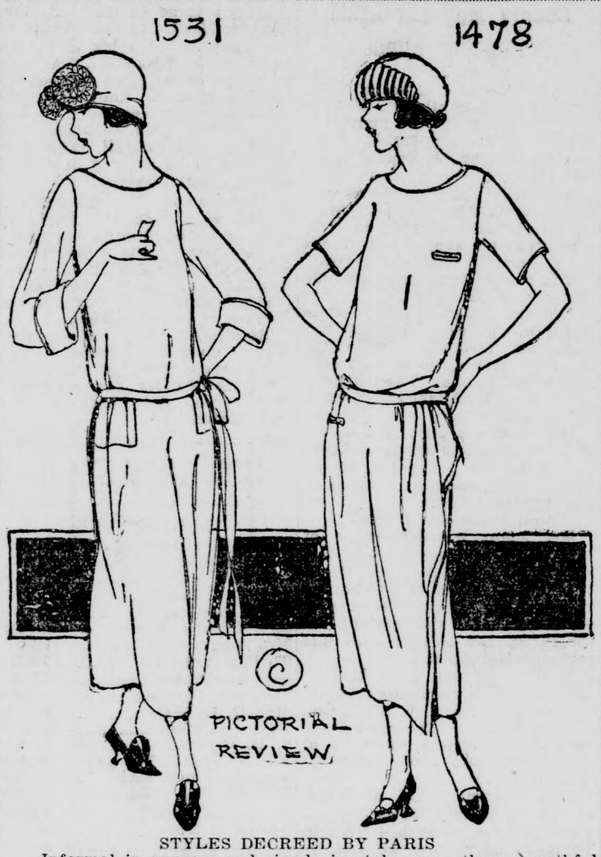
Daily Fashion Hint

Prepared Especially for The Glendale Evening News



STYLES DECREED BY PARIS

Informal in purpose and simple in style are these youthful models, fashioned of silk and wool voile. The first dress escapes the monotony of the long-waisted blouse with attached skirt, by having the front of the skirt raised to the edge of the girdle in panel effect. Cuffs of self-material finish the sleeves. This is an ideal model for the college girl, as it may be developed in a number of smart materials or a combination of fabrics. Medium size requires 3 1-2 yards of 36-inch voile.

For those who like a little drapery at the side to relieve the severity of a very straight line, the second model is recommended. For its development voile, silk or wool crepe, taffeta or twillcord may be used. The model is so designed that the skirt and blouse may be of different fabrics and different colors, even. The neck may be finished in round or oval outline. Medium size requires 3 7-8 yards of 36-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review dress No. 1531. Sizes, 14 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 1478. Sizes, 14 to 20 years. Price 35 cents.

MASSAGING WRINKLES

There seems to be two schools of thought among those whose profession it is to keep women young and to make them beautiful. One school of thought says that the only way to cure wrinkles is to massage with a flesh building cream which, by feeding the tissues and stimulating the blood, smooths out the crease and builds up the new flesh. The other school of thought says that as wrinkles are due to the relaxing and dropping of minute sets of muscles, the only thing to do is to draw up these muscles with strong astringents, and also to stimulate the blood into rebuilding the tissue.

I can't tell you which one is right. I've no doubt both of them are. I do know, however, that those who go in too strenuously for oily creams usually end up with oily complexions, while those who use too frequently the powerful astringent muds and such lotions find themselves with tight, dry skins, making new wrinkles as fast as they stimulate away the old ones.

I think one must try a moderate amount of both treatments. As the dry complexion wrinkles most easily a certain amount of flesh building cold cream should be used. This has the advantage of clearing out the dirt that modern life grimes into the pores. Massage is necessary not only to work this cream thoroughly into the skin but to stimulate the blood.

If you can have it done by a professional who understands the muscular structure of the face and can work along these muscles so much the better for you; but if not you will have to blunder along yourself, taking care only to be gentle and to make upwards all motions where there is any pressure. Follow this by use of an astringent of some kind, for extra stimulation and to close the pores.

K. Z.:—You will get better results from massaging the chest with cocoa butter than you will by using olive oil.

Golden G.:—There is no reason for the statement that water will rot the hair. Perhaps it originated from the fact that too frequently shampooing will deprive the hair of necessary secretions drying it out, and causing all the attendant ills that go with such a condition.

Bobbie M.:—A girl of 16 years of age, who is five feet one and one-half inches in heighth should not weigh over 115 pounds. The fattening foods are the starchy, oily, and the sweet ones. Among those you mention, potatoes are the most fattening.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Speeder Draws Three Months and $250 Fine

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Nov. 7.—J. B. Chaffee, charged with reckless driving and speeding and given a jail sentence of three months and fined $250 in a justice court here under the new Breed law, which prescribes this as the maximum penalty for a first offense, began serving his sentence yesterday. "I wish the law did not limit me to the length of the jail term I can impose," said the judge as he sentenced the offender.

In the most families cocoanut layer cake is not served frequently because the cocoanut filling is more expensive than most other kinds. But every good housekeepers knows how to make this delicious cake, and at least for guest occasions it appears on the home table. For the sake of the inexperienced housekeeper, I shall give this recipe in "just how" form:

A Two-Layer Cake With Cocoanut Filling and Frosting: Cream together one cup sugar and one-half cup of butter; add the beaten yolks of two eggs and one cup of sweet milk. Now sift together two and one-half cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt, and add this dry mixture to the first mixture. Fold in the stiffly-whipped whites of the two eggs and flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. Turn this batter into two buttered layer-cake pans and bake for 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Cocoanut Cream Filling for a Two-Layer Cake: Heat three-quarters of a cup of sweet milk in a small sauce pan. Now take one-fourth cup of extra sweet milk and mix into it four tablespoons of flour; mix till smooth, add this thickening to the hot milk stirring for a few seconds, then add one well-beaten egg which has been mixed with six tablespoons of granulated sugar. When thick, stir in one cup of shredded cocoanut and let cook a minute or two longer then remove from fire and add one teaspoon of vanilla. This filling is just the right amount to put between two cake layers.

Cocoanut Icing: (The following recipe makes just enough icing for the top of one cake.) Beat one egg white stiff in a medium-sized mixing bowl, ready to have hot sirup poured into it. Make the sirup as follows: Mix together two tablespoons of boiling water and four tablespoons of granulated sugar in a small saucepan and let them boil without stirring till a little will "thread" from a spoon when it is held high in the air and dripped back into the saucepan (for the sake of the inexperienced cook, I shall describe this "thread" as an almost invisible cobweb-like ending of the drop of sirup which has just left the end of the spoon). When this stage is reached take the saucepan off the fire at once and pour the hot sirup into the stiffly-whipped egg-white in the bowl: beat the mixture for one full minute with an egg-beater of the wheel type, then add one-half cup of shredded cocoanut. Spread at once on the top layer of the cake.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Abe Cohen went every night to the pool room of Kelly & O'Brien to play for 10 cents a point, says Drexerd, Drexel U. paper.

One evening Mrs. Cohen was awakened by a loud and persistent knocking on her front door. She stuck her head out the window and called: "Who is it? Vat you vant?"

"Does Mrs. Cohen live here?" asked a man on the step.

"I'm Mrs. Cohen," she replied.

"Well, I'm Mr. Kelly, from the pool room up the street. Your husband shoots pool there every evening."

"Vell, I know dat."

"He was shooting tonight and lost $1,500."

"Ach, mein Gott! Mein husband lose $1,500 shooting pool? He should drop dead."

"That's what he did, madam. Good night."

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years old and just enrolled in high school this year. In one of my classes there is a very handsome boy who is very popular. He looks and looks at me as if he would like to know me. I like him very much. How can I give him a chance to know me and take me out? All the other girls have dates and I never do.

AMY MAY.

You are mistaken when you say all the other girls have dates, because many girls of your age have never had any attention from a young man. It is not your place to make advances to the boy in your class. If he is as interested in you as you think he is, he will find a way to know you better.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 21 years old and have been going with a boy who is 20 for almost four years. I love this boy with my whole heart, but I am not sure that he still loves me, because I haven't treated him exactly fair He really did love me once—we were engaged and planning for a happy future together as soon as he finished college, but I acted a fool and broke the engagement five months ago.

After I became engaged to him I met another boy who lived nearer to me and I soon thought I loved him more. Then I found fault over almost nothing and in a fit of anger broke the engagement, later becoming engaged to the other boy. I did not go with this boy long and so we were soon "all off."

Not long afterward I received a letter from the first boy and I answered it, but we didn't write love letters as we once did. Since we have begun writing again he waits a long time to write and says he doesn't have time. Do you think this is true? It has been two weeks since I wrote him and I have not heard from him yet. Why do you suppose he waits so long to answer my letters? Can it be because he does not care for me at all?

I shall never love another boy as I do this one, and I would give anything in the world if I could win him back again. Do you think he has lost all faith in me and does not trust me any more? Please tell me what you think about the way I have acted.

This boy is now in college. Would it be all right to send him a box of home-made candy?

I have not told him that I still love him.

HEART-BROKEN GIRL.

I am not endowed with psychic powers and therefore it is impossible for me to answer most of your questitons. I presume the young man still cares for you, or he would not correspond. Doubtless he is busy as he says he is and finds little time to write. Time helps to soften wounds and so it may be that the young man still cares for you, but you are not his big interest. He thinks of you, but does not feel the urge to write that he formerly did.

I can see no harm in sending him a box of home-made candy. It also seems to me that it would be advisable to ask him to come to see you again the next time you write. You certainly were a foolish girl to let an infatuation interfere with real love, but you were at least trying to do the honest thing and therefore cannot be blamed.

Mr. Millerton, who is a great deal of a hypochrondriac and enjoys looking forward "to the end," was in an especially depressed mood one evening when he gave some thought to the question af a second marriage for his wife, says Everybody's.

"Harriet,' my dear," he said, gloomily, "when I am gone from this vale of tears you must marry again. It is my dearest wish."

"William," observed his wife, with a faint smile, "no one will marry an old woman like me. You ought to have died fifteen years ago for that."

126,000 Miles of Cloth for Cement Sacks

To keep cement moving from the mills to the many building jobs always under way, cement manufacturers require an astonishing quantity of sacks.

This year the industry has considerably more than 225,000,000 sacks. These represent enough cotton cloth to make a skirt for every woman and girl in the United States—126,000 miles of 30-inch fabric. Even a moderate sized mill which ships say 1,000,000 barrels a year must have 2,000,000 or so sacks.

When a customer returns a sack he gets credit for it, if it is usable or repairable. The convenient returnable sack means that each plant has to have large departments where men and women sew, sort, clean and count sacks continuously. This work alone costs the industry nearly $1,250,000 a year.

And cement manufacturers keep increasing their sack inventories so that they can ship promptly. Last year they purchased a total of more than 100,000,000 new cotton sacks. For replacements alone over 50,000,000 were needed; for increased supplies over 30,000,000. In addition over 18,000,000 paper bags were used representing 7,000,000 pounds of paper.

This problem of containers causes a large and steadily growing investment by the portland cement industry.

afternoon was the presentation of a song cycle, "A Song of Life," by Maude Fenlon Bollman, soprano, and Ivy Mae Travis, pianist.

The songs were chosen by Mrs. Bollman to express a song of life, and were, for the most part, American compositions. Mrs. Bollman is a talented vocalist, and her charming personality made her presentation most delightful.

Compliments were heard on every hand for Miss Travis' splendid work as accompanist. As a pianist she is a real artist, and her work in support of Mrs. Bollman was wonderfully done.

The next club meeting, November 13, will be "Charter Day," when the charter members will be honored with a short program, followed by an address by Miss Winifred Rouzee, Bible student, who has just returned from the Orient.

Shrine Club to Hold Stag Entertainment

The members of the Shrine club of Glendale are planning to stage an entertainment next Wednesday night, November 14, that will be the last word in stag shows. Boxing bouts between some of the boys on the coast will furnish the main thrills, but there will be stunts of various kinds and a varied assortment of luncheon that will appeal to both hosts and guests.

The affair will be held in Hahn's auditorium at 109 North Brand boulevard.

KIWANIANS PLAN CHRISTMAS TREE

Committees Named for Big Community Event; Play Will Be Repeated

The Community Christmas celebration, sponsored by the local Kiwanis club, will be held on Christmas eve, which, being December 24, this year falls on Monday.

A big Christmas tree, thirty feet in height, will be put up on the vacant lots on Olive avenue opposite the City Hall, it is announced by Ted Covel, on the committee of arrangements. The tree will be lighted with a host of brilliantly-colored little electric bulbs, and will be profusely decorated.

A special feature will be the presentation, to every child of 12 years or under, of a present, together with candy, nuts, apples and oranges. The program, which is being carefully worked out, will include Christmas carols and one or more addresses appropriate to the season.

Following are the committees appointed to see that in every department of the big affair, Burbank kiddies have the time of their lives:

Arrangements—Ted Covel, Al Graham and Tony Gage.

Christmas Tree—L. B. Davidson, E. J. Jackson, Morris Jones and Harry Kendig.

Presents—R. O. Church, C. W. Anderson, Charles Fischer and H. W. Lewis.

To Repeat Play

The Bohemian Players will present "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" on the night of November 14, in the auditorium of the Thomas Edison school. This is the play they presented the last night of the fall festival, recently past, and which was so enthusiastically received.

The play will be presented under the auspices of the Goodfellows' club, who are sponsoring the Bohemian Players. It is planned to provide, in addition to the play, a number of vaudeville acts. Half the proceeds, it is reported, will go to the players for the purchase of costumes and properties. The other half will go into the Goodfellows' treasury.

Provided the auditorium of the Thomas Edison school cannot be obtained on the night of November 14, the date of presentation will be changed.

Mrs. George T. Pomeroy of 102 East San Fernando boulevard, wife of Dr. Pomeroy, is reported to be practically recovered from the severe shock and minor cuts and abrasions received Thursday night, November 1, when an automobile in which she and her husband, with a number of friends, were riding west on San Fernando road collided with another car, and was badly smashed.

Dr. Pomeroy was not injured in the smash.

Rotarians Dine

Burbank Rotarians and Rotary Anns gathered around the festive board last night at the Sunset Canyon Country club, for a reception to new members and general good time, with Mayor J. C. Crawford, president of the club, presiding.

The regular weekly luncheon was held at the clubhouse yesterday noon, but was sparsely attended, most of the members preferring to save their appetites and enthusiasm for the evening affair.

Music, speeches and special stunts of various kinds marked the passage of the hours from 7 until 11 o'clock, when the party broke up.

Get Acquainted Sale at Glendale Bootery

In line with the policy of R. E. Brown, proprietor of the Glendale Bootery, 221 North Brand boulevard of conducting only two special sales a year, the first an anniversary sale and the second a "Get Acquainted" sale, this enterprising concern announces in the advertising columns of today's issue of The Glendale Evening News the beginning of the "Get Acquainted" sale on Thursday.

"For this event the entire stock of the store has been specially marked down. Values will be available to Glendale shoppers all during the big selling event," asserts Mr. Brown.

"The fact that ample stock and plenty of sizes have always been carried, coupled with the efforts of the store to achieve perfect fit and satisfaction for every customer, are features which have contributed more than anything else to the success and popularity of the store," states Mr. Brown.

Counsel Advises Supervisors County May Set Aside Protection Funds

Action is expected to be facilitated in the formation of the proposed Tujunga-Sunland and other fire districts as a result of an opinion held by the county counsel's office.

The board of supervisors has been advised that it is the opinion of the counsel that the county is permitted to appropriate funds for the creation and organization of fire protection districts outside the city limits.

Recent legislation by the state legislature provided that the fire protection districts outside the city were to be paid for out of a certain state fund. The state superior court held that this method would be illegal.

Including the Tujunga-Sunland and La Crescenta sections, there are twenty-eight applications on fine for fire protection districts in Los Angeles county.

Mrs. Wornum's Funeral

Mrs. Jenny Wornum, widow of Rev. J. T. Wornum, who was known as the Parson of the Green Verdugo Hills, was laid to rest in the Tujunga cemetery Sunday by the same hands that carried the parson up the sloping trail one year ago last April.

Funeral services were held at the Tujunga Community church, conducted by Dr. J. V. Stotts and Rev. Swaney. At the open grave John Steven McGroarty spoke of the supremacy of spiritual achievement.

Mrs. Wornum was affectionately called Aunt Jenny by all who knew her. She had lived in Tujunga and vicinity for twenty-one years. Rev. Wornum was a circuit rider in his active days.

Speaking at the cemetery Mr. McGroarty said, "While I was sitting there in the Community church, listening to Mr. Swaney tell about Aunt Jenny's Christian life and hearing the members of her faith sing that beautiful hymn about the Eastern Gate, it was easy for me to picture what happened up yonder by the Eastern Gate this morning, or yesterday morning.

"I could see our strong old Parson of the Green Verdugo Hills sitting on his horse, erect in the saddle as he used to sit when he rode about these hills and valleys and we met and talked to him by the roadside.

Christians Waiting

"Beside him was another horse, waiting with an empty saddle. All the walls and ramparts of heaven were filled with shouting Christians of Aunt Jenny's own church, Christians who were never afraid to let the world know their faith.

"And what a shouting of joy there was when the jasper gate swung open and the old parson reached down and helped Aunt Jenny up to the waiting saddle and they galloped away, through the golden streets, across the ford of the river Jordan and out into the great green forests of heaven.

"There are people who think it is childish to believe these things, but the wisest men and women in the world have believed them. Aunt Jenny's creed was not my creed, but her faith was identical with my faith, and just as surely as I believe anything in this world, I believe in that happy reunion up there inside the Eastern Gate."

Organize Chess Club Among Oxy Students

The much-longed for chess club is at last a reality at Occidental college. Such a social club has been organized at the Tiger institution for the purpose of furthering the game of chess. Many students at Oxy excel in playing the game and great interest is being taken in the new club. The first social meeting was held last night at the home of Miss Jean Christie of 761 North Fair Oaks. Dan Danilevitch is acting president of the athletic group of mind exercisers. The faculty enjoys a good game of chess and several prominent professors have joined the chess chorus.
